

Dr. W. K. McGee Here Week of Feb. 14-19

Thomasville Pastor to Lead Students in Pe- riod of Deeper Spirit- ual Thinking at Invi- tation of B. S. U.

Dr. W. K. McGee, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Thomasville, is to conduct the week of deeper spiritual thinking, February 14-19.

Dr. McGee is a man who will especially appeal to young people, being a person "young in spirit" himself. He is a graduate of Furman University in South Carolina from which he went immediately to the Seminary at Louisville, where he finished his preparation for the ministry and obtained his doctor's degree. For a while he was located at the Hocutt Memorial Baptist Church in Burlington, afterwards going to Thomasville where he has been for three or four years.

CRITICS COMPLIMENT "MISS LULU BETT"

Annie Elizabeth Coward and Margaret Love Clarke Give Commendable Portrayals

"Miss Lulu Bett," the play constructed so masterly by Zona Gale out of the tedium and dullness of the average American in a small town, contrived to have few dull moments as was presented Thursday evening, December 16, by the Meredith College Little Theatre.

Miss Annie Elizabeth Coward of Goldsboro, as Miss Lulu Bett was not merely in name but in performance the leading lady of the production presenting a realistic and sympathetic representation of Lulu who had spent most of her 34 years slaving for her brother-in-law, Dwight Deacon and his family, and was supposed to be thankful for it. She was adept in the portrayal of the ludicrous in Miss Lulu's life that so often bordered on tragedy. Margaret Love Clark of Monroe, Ga., as grandma, gave a highly commendable performance of an old lady who was not sweet but whose wit was not to be gainsayed, and Sarah Hayworth of Asheboro making her debut in college production, gave an interpretation of Monona, the spoiled child of the family, that rang true throughout the show.

The masculine roles: that of Ninian Deacon whose rather accidental marriage to Miss Lulu gave her courage to combat the Deacon family was played by Betty Elliott; Dwight Deacon, the smug husband portrayed by Mirvina Garrett of Greensboro; Minnie A. Forney of Lawndale, the piano salesman, and Catherine Johnson of Winston-Salem as the youthful suitor of Diana, fell short of the performance given by the leading lady though the acting of Misses Garrett and Elliott was satisfactory. Others in the cast were Geraldine Tuttle of Winston-Salem as Ina, Dwight's wife, and Betty Fleischman of Greenville as the youthful Diana.

Mrs. Harold A. List was the director of the college players whose officers are: Margaret Clark, Monroe, president; Minnie A. Forney, vice president; Mildred Davis of Pendleton, secretary, and Betty Vernon of Brooklyn, N. Y., treasurer.—News Bureau.

Value of Minerals Produced In State

The value of the minerals and mineral products now being produced in North Carolina is now in excess of $11,000,000 a year, according to estimates made by State Geologist H. J. Bryson, head of the mineral resources division of the Department of Conservation and Development.

ARCH T. ALLEN SPEAKS TO THE WOMEN VOTERS

Discusses Forming of Federal, State and City Governments— Cites Importance of Individual Voters.

One of the most interesting speakers of the year for the Student League of Women Voters, presented in the January meeting, was Arch T. Allen, president of the North Carolina Young Democratic Clubs. Kate Mills Sulter introduced the speaker who briefly outlined the forming of the federal, state and city governments. Allen maintained that in spite of the specific powers granted to the federal government by the constitution, and those of the State and city, the final decision rests with the individual citizen through his right to vote. "Therefore," he said, "every individual, should take an active interest in governmental affairs."

Allen then reviewed the founding of the Young Democratic Clubs in 1928 by Tyre Taylor, a North Carolinian, showing that these clubs came into existence primarily to foster the Democratic party, but secondly to interest young people in governmental affairs. Allen was a representative in the last General Assembly from Wake County and he described fully contributions to be made to the Democratic Party by a group such as the Student League of Women Voters.

Faculty Members Give Program Over Radio

Dr. Harry E. Cooper, dean of music, presented a half-hour recital of organ music from 8 o'clock to 8:30 over Station WPTF on January 5. The numbers rendered on his program were "First Movement from Sixth Organ Sonata" by Mendelssohn, "Cantabile in B Minor" by Lovet, "Intermezzo" by Callaerts, "Romance Sans Paroles" by Bonnet, and "Grand Chorus in G Minor" by Gullmont.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Alden presented a violin recital over Station WPTF on January 4, at 8:30 o'clock. They played on this program "Andante from Serenade" by Smetana and "Sarabande" by Rigandon, "Aria," and "Gigue from Suite Antique" by Stoesel. The Andantes made use of double stops for both violins and thus provided a complete four-part harmony. Stoesel, composer of the "Suite Antique," is a contemporary American composer and conductor and is noted for many contributions to the literature of violin and orchestra.

DR. GRAHAM AND DR. GROVES TO LECTURE

University Men Accept Invi- tation of Honor Societies to Speak in Spring

Dr. Frank Porter Graham, president of the Greater University of North Carolina and author of the famous "Graham Plan," has been secured by the Kappa Nu Sigma Honor Society to deliver the address at the annual lecture held each spring. At this time two members of the junior class having the highest scholastic average will be received into the society. Dr. Ernest Groves of the sociology department of the University of North Carolina and the first professor in the United States to teach a course in marriage has accepted the invitation of the members of the Silver Shield, honorary leadership society, to be the guest speaker at a lecture sponsored by that society some time in the spring.

On Sunday morning, May 29, Dr. Ralph Herring will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of 1938. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and is now pastor of the First Baptist Church in Winston-Salem.

Miss Inabelle Coleman, publicity director for the Foreign Missionary Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, will bring the missionary sermon on Sunday night, May 29.

Dr. Gordon Poteat will deliver the baccalaureate address on Monday morning, May 30. He is a member of the faculty at Crozer Theological Seminary in Chester, Pennsylvania.

Aldens, Violinists, To Play at University

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar H. Alden, duo-violinists, and Miss Alleen McMillan, piano accompanist, have accepted an invitation to present a recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the lounge of Graham Memorial Student Union in Chapel Hill. The recital will be one of the series of Sunday afternoon concerts by visiting artists that are sponsored weekly by the Student Union of the University of North Carolina, of which Pete Ivey is the manager.

The musicians will play the noted Bach "Concerto in D Minor," "Suite Antique," by Stoesel, a contemporary American composer, an impromptu by Goossens, director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, and other compositions by Moszkowski and Sinding.—News Bureau.

GRANT AWARDS TO ATHLETES

Seven Students Get Monograms, Seven Get Stars for Campus Sports; Hockey Stick Awarded.

The Meredith College Athletic Association awarded monograms to seven students while seven other letter women were presented with additional stars for excellence in campus sports. The silver loving cup which is given annually to the class hockey champions went to the senior team which in three seasons of play has not been scored on, tied or defeated. The cup was presented to Vivian Buffalo of Garner, captain of the winning team, by Eleanor Rodwell of Norlina, manager of hockey. Molly Ann Terrell of Norlina received the hockey stick given annually by the junior class to the best freshman hockey player. Selection is based on the ability as a player, good sportsmanship, interest in the sport, and faithfulness at class practices.

Harriet Rose of Wadesboro, president of the Athletic Association, presided at the chapel exercise when the various awards were made and introduced Wilba Mills of Apex, president of the Monogram Club, who presented letters to Dorothy Crawford of Goldsboro, Alleen Snow of Maplewood, N. J., Alta Critcher of Williamston, Frances Tatum of Fayetteville, Barbara Behrman of Greensboro, Fannie Darby of Asheville, and Ernestine Neighbors of Dunn. Members of the Monogram Club who received stars were Charlotte Peebles of Apex, Frances Olive of Apex, Vivian Buffalo, Eleanor Rodwell, Wilba Mills, and Harriet Rose.

CHURCHES WILL HOLD CONCLAVE

Noted Speakers to Ad- dress Ministers and Laymen

The second North Carolina Convocation of Churches will be held in Raleigh at the Edenton Street Methodist Church, January 18-20. This meeting which will take place under the auspices of the North Carolina Council of Churches has as its theme "Thy Kingdom Come." This will be a meeting of pastors and laymen, both men and women. There will be many addresses given by well-known speakers, some of which are coming to North Carolina for the first time.

Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton is to be one of the speakers. She is remembered here as one of the outstanding speakers of National Preaching Mission, which was held in Raleigh a few years ago. Mrs. Overton was also a guest speaker at one of our chapel exercises during that time.

Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of Social Ethics at Hartford Theological Seminary, is author of many widely read books, the latest being "Living Religion." Dr. Hart is a dynamic exponent of Christianity.

Other renowned speakers include Dr. John C. Bennet who is professor of Christian Theology at Auburn Seminary. He has also written many books, and his latest work, "Christianity and Our World" marks him as a leader among younger theologians. Dr. Harvard C. Robbins, who for twelve years was the distinguished Dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine will be heard during the meeting in New York City. He is now professor of preaching in General Theological Seminary.

There will also be Mr. Russell Colgate, an outstanding New York business man and a leading Baptist layman, who is president of the International Council of Religious Education. He is going to speak on the service of the laymen in kingdom building. Dr. Henry S. Leiper, executive secretary of the American section of the University Christian Council, will tell about what is happening to Christianity in the world. Dr. Everett R. Clinehy, Executive Secretary of the Commission on Cooperation be-

MISS FRANCES BAILEY

BULLETIN CITES NOTED ALUMNAE

First Issue of College Bulletin Edited at First of Year

(Courtesy Meredith News Bureau)
Miss Louise Helsabeck, dietitian at the Baptist Hospital, and Miss Louise Futrell, director of the Summit School, both of Winston-Salem, are featured in the Meredith quarterly bulletin recently issued for the first time in the history of the college by the alumnae. Miss Helsabeck, representing the field of dietetics, and Miss Futrell, that of teaching, were among the alumnae of prominence in ten different fields of endeavor who were invited to contribute biographical sketches and an account of their work to the section "Meredith Alumnae at Work in the World." The review shows that Meredith graduates have branched into the fields of taxidermy, interior decorating, and medicine, as well as gaining distinction in the usual women's professions of nursing, social service, and the arts.

Other alumnae who contributed to the feature section are Mrs. Bernice Kelly Harris of Seaboard, writer of folk, social, and religious plays that have been produced successfully in Northampton county and at the State drama festivals at Chapel Hill; Miss Lella Higgs of Greenville, director of a study of interior decoration and design; Miss Virginia Marshbanks of Raleigh, former superintendent of nurses at Rex Hospital; Dr. Bessie Evans Lane of Raleigh, practicing physician and member of the medical staff of Rex Hospital; Mrs. Maude Burke Dozier, missionary to Japan; Miss Mary Tillery, assistant professor of art at Meredith College, and well known painter; Miss Chloris Kellum of Raleigh, State director of the unemployment division of the WPA; and Miss Roxie Collier of Raleigh, taxidermist for the State of North Carolina.

Biographical sketches of the members of the reunion classes of 1905, '06, '07, '08, '13, '18, '24, '25, '27, '28, and '36 are contained in the bulletin, and a picture section is devoted to the children of the members of these classes. Mrs. Gordon Maddrey of Scotland Neck, president of the Alumnae Association, has written the preface, and the address on "The Complacency of Sheltered Women," delivered by Mrs. Sallie Calvert Parker of Jackson at the last commencement meeting of the Alumnae Association is published for the first time. Miss Mae Grimmer, Alumnae secretary, and Mrs. Ruth Couch Allen and Dr. Mary Lynch Johnson of Raleigh, edited the publication.

MEREDITH CHOIR TO SING AT MEETING

Other Music To Be Furnished By St. Cecilia Club and the Raleigh String Quartet

The music for the North Carolina convocation of churches will be under the direction of Dr. Harry E. Cooper. A half-hour of music will be provided each evening, featuring the Meredith Choir, the St. Cecilia Club, the Raleigh String Quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alden, Miss Katherine Elde, and Major Kutschinski of State College. Meredith will also furnish an organist for all the devotional programs.

Miss Bailey Chosen To Succeed Mrs. List As Dramatics Head

TEN OF CLASS OF '38 RECEIVE RECOGNITION

Year-Book of Ameri- can Colleges to Con- tain a Statement by President and Famil- iar Campus Scenes.

Meredith College has been asked to be represented in the American College Year Book for the year 1938 by ten outstanding members of the senior class. This is a new publication which will appear this year for the first time. The plan has three basic objectives. The first is to provide a permanent annual reference book for giving national scrutiny to a group which contains many of our future leaders. The second is to give national recognition to the splendid work of our educational institutions. The third is to serve as an incentive for students to develop those all-round qualities which will make them truly representative of their college or university; and to be of material assistance to those included in the book in securing a wider choice of career jobs upon graduation.

At the monthly meeting of the senior class, Friday, December 7, the class selected those girls whom they considered worthy to represent them and Meredith in the year book. All of them are girls who have served their class and their school faithfully while at Meredith and who have been outstanding for their leadership and character. They are: Mirvina Garrett, president of the Student Government Association; Harriet Rose, president of the Athletic Association; Ann Poteat, president of the senior class; June Fay Sewell, editor of The Acorn; Frances Tatum, editor of The Twig and president of the Barber Biology Club; Carolyn Parker, president of the Philaretian Society; Kate Mills Sulter, president of the Astrobleton Society; Katherine Aldridge, president of the Baptist Student Union; Margaret Love Clarke, president of the Little Theater and house president of a dormitory; and Charlotte Wester, editor of Oak Leaves.

The pictures of these girls will be published, accompanied by a short biography citing the reason why the person was elected, and giving the name, the age, the name of the parents, home address, course and preparatory school of each of them. There will also be several familiar campus scenes and a message from the president of each college.

Maurice Hindus, Native of Russia, To Give Lecture

Sometime in the latter part of February, Maurice Hindus, a native Russian, will lecture to the Meredith students on some phase of life in Russia. Although a native of Russia, Mr. Hindus has lived in the United States most of the time, having come here in 1905. He got a B.S. degree at Colgate and later received his M.S. He has done graduate study at Harvard University and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Honor Society. He has been a free lance writer since 1917 and has written several books, including Russian Peasants and the Revolution and The Great Offensive.

Illustrated Lecture

Dr. John N. Couch, professor of botany at the University of North Carolina, gave an illustrated lecture on "Symbiosis Between Fungi and Scale Insects" here last evening in the Phi Hall. The visiting speaker, who has done extensive research in the fungi field, presented the same lecture at the meeting of the National Scientific Society in Indianapolis, Ind., during the Christmas holidays. His appearance at Meredith was sponsored jointly by the invertebrate zoology class and the Barber Biology Club.—News Bureau.

Mrs. List, Organizer of Spoken English De- partment, Has Been Successful in Direct- ing College Players in Production of Well- Known Plays in Last Two Years.

Miss Frances Bailey of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, has been chosen as director of the Little Theater and instructor in spoken English at Meredith beginning with the spring semester. Miss Bailey comes here from Panhandle State Agricultural and Mechanical College, Goodwell, Oklahoma, where she was head of the speech department. Miss Bailey has also taught at Central College, Pella, Iowa, and Intermountain College, Helena, Montana. For the past two summers she has been a member of the faculty of Iowa State University, Iowa City.

Miss Bailey received the degree of Bachelor of Oratory from the Minneapolis School of Dramatic Art; a B.A. degree from Intermountain College, and a M.A. degree from Iowa State University. The new director has done graduate work in the summer sessions of the University of North Dakota and the University of Minnesota. She is a member of Pi Kappa Delta, Alpha Psi Omega, and Phi Mu Gamma national forensic and dramatic fraternities, respectively.

Miss Bailey succeeds Mrs. Harold A. List of Raleigh and Athens, Tennessee, who has resigned her position at Meredith to join her husband in Athens. Mrs. List began her work at Meredith in the fall of 1936, coming here from Tennessee Wesleyan College in Athens, Tenn. She was the first instructor employed to devote full time to the work of the Little Theater. Under her able direction the Little Theater has shown much progress, and has presented such popular plays as Mrs. Gaskell's, Ladies of Cranford; James M. Barrie's Alice Sit by the Fire; and Zona Gale's Miss Lulu Bett. Mrs. List received a diploma in speech from Tennessee Wesleyan College and a B.A. degree from Agnes Scott College.

GOOD RESPONSE TO BASKETBALL CALL

Dorothy Wilson Announces Schedule of Practice for Basketball Season

Much enthusiasm has been shown by all classes in response to the announcement of basketball practice, reports Dorothy Wilson, manager of the sport. All of the classes have had enough players for two teams, with the freshmen topping the others by having sufficient girls to make three teams.

Three of the classes have already elected their captains. These are: Senior, Margaret Seymour; junior, Charlotte Peebles; and freshman, Ellen McIntyre.

Practices which were continued during the week before examinations, will be interrupted by the semester finals. However, they will begin again the following week in order that regular games may start immediately. Dormitory teams also will start practice after exams.

N. C. State Basketball Schedule
