

Tennis Stars Hold Clinic

Sports Week Program Features British Stars

Dorothy Round Little, twice woman's tennis champion of the world, and Ruth Mary Hardwick, three times representative of Great Britain in the Wightman Cup matches, will be at Meredith Monday, October 18, to give a demonstration and hold a tennis clinic. The demonstration will be held under the auspices of the Athletic Association from 2-5 in the afternoon, and all students and faculty are invited to attend. Students from Peace, St. Mary's, State, and the Raleigh high schools are also invited to the exhibition.

Mrs. Little started her career of championships by winning the Worcester-shire junior championship in 1927 at her first attempt. She repeated this victory in 1928 and 1929, the first time that this championship had been won three years in succession. She played at Wimbledon in the All-England championships for the first time in 1929, but it was not until 1931 that she achieved her first major victory against a world renowned player. At that time she defeated Senorita D'Alvarez, the Spanish champion and soon after was selected to represent Great Britain on the Wightman Cup team which was to visit America. During the next two years, 1932 and 1933, she was a member of several British international teams. In July 1933 she reached the final of the women's championship at Wimbledon, beating Helen Hull Jacobs and Madam Mathieu, only to lose to Helen Wills Moody. In taking the second set, she was the first player for eight years that had given Mrs. Moody a close battle. In the fall of 1933 she again toured the United States winning the Pacific South West Tournament at Los Angeles, defeating Alice Marble. She then continued this tour, journeying to Japan, China, and the Malay Peninsula, in company with other English stars. In 1934 she won her greatest victory, defeating Helen Hull Jacobs in the finals at Wimbledon and was proclaimed woman champion of the world. During the winter of 1934 and 1935 she toured New Zealand, Australia, and Tasmania, winning the New South Wales championships and Australian championships, and was ranked officially No. 1 in the world. In 1935 she visited the United States for the third time, representing Great Britain in the Wightman Cup matches and defeated Helen Hull Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey. In 1937 she again won the Wimbledon championships, and also won the mixed doubles championship with Fred Perry, as she had done in 1935 and 1936. In 1937 she married Dr. Douglas Little, and in 1940, when he joined the British army, she brought her son to America and turned professional to earn her own living. Since then she has been tennis instructor at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio.

Ruth Mary Hardwick really started her tennis career when she reached the semi-finals of the junior championship at Wimbledon in 1931. In 1935-36 she toured South Africa with the British team, and in 1936, '37, and '39, she represented Great Britain in the Wightman Cup matches. In 1937 and 1938 she won the doubles and mixed doubles of the Scandinavian championships at Copenhagen. In 1937 she won the South of France singles championship at Nice and the British covered court championships and Scottish championship. In 1938 she defeated Helen Wills Moody at a tournament in Weybridge, England, which was the

SPORTS WEEK

Shown above are Dorothy Round Little and Ruth Mary Hardwick, world famous tennis players, who will be at Meredith October 18.

Orchestra Members

The joint orchestra, made up of students at Meredith, Peace, and Saint Mary's and directed by Mrs. Edgar Alden, urges interested students to see about joining. The joint orchestra meets once a month on Wednesday nights; the Meredith division meets on Tuesday nights at 6:45 the other weeks. A list of the orchestra members and the instruments which they play is as follows: violins, Virginia Ayers, Evelyn Roher, Fannie Memory Farmer, Mary Elizabeth Wrenn, Juliette Kambis, Mildred Blackman, Flora Ann Lee, Rosalind Sannella, Charlotte Green, Ruth Kutschinski; viola, Ann White; cello, Martha Hamrick; clarinet, Ruth Vande Kieft; saxophone, Rachel Strole; trumpet, Ruth Wyman; piano, Betsy Jean Holt.

Trustees Plan Drive

On Friday, October 8, the Meredith College board of trustees met, and as a result of this meeting, the college will launch a drive for $565,000, beginning November 15. Most of this fund will be used for the construction of a chapel and music building, a gymnasium and swimming pool, and a library building. Approximately $50,000 will be used for alterations and improvements on present buildings. The college already has $65,000 of the needed amount.

The campaign will be directed by Mr. W. H. Weatherspoon, president of the board of trustees, and Mr. LeRoy Martin, chairman of the board's executive committee. At the meeting, Chairman Martin reported on the findings of a recently completed survey of the buildings at the college.

The proposed new buildings will eliminate many of the temporary buildings that have been in use since the college was moved to its present site. According to the proposed plan, all classrooms will be of permanent brick, and the science laboratories will be housed in temporary buildings.

Fall Production Planned

Members of the Little Theatre are busy now in preparation for their fall production, Ladies in Retirement, which will be presented November 12. Try-outs were held Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights by Mr. Rembert, who is director of the production. The Little Theatre, with Lib McNeill in charge, also plans a party for freshmen on November 13.

First Education Club Meeting

The Education Club held its first meeting of the year in the Hut on Tuesday evening, October 5, at 7 o'clock. The new officers, who were elected last spring, presided. They are: Carolyn Allen, president; Mildred Colvard, vice president; Doris Jones, secretary, and Doris Hamrick, treasurer.

After a short business meeting, the club decided that its meetings would be held on the first Friday of each month at 7 o'clock, and then Carolyn welcomed all new methods teachers, and members of the education department.

The program consisted of a community sing followed by a talk by Miss Marjorie Keiger of the music department on "The Place of Music in Modern Education." Avis Branch played records for the entertainment of the members, and the meeting ended with a social hour.

Initiation Last Night

Novices in the classical language department were made members of the Classical Club last night. Their initiation consisted of a descent into Hades. Betty Miller was in charge of the proceedings. Hannah May Savage is president for the year, and Dr. Helen Price is sponsor.

WAR DRIVE RESULTS

At the close of the Third War Loan drive, Mrs. Vera Tart Marsh, chairman of the women's college division, announced that Meredith College had bought bonds to the amount of $31,837.50 issue value. Of this amount $25,000.00 was a college investment, leaving the amount of $6,837.50 bought by the Meredith faculty and the administrative staff. Mrs. LeRoy Allen was faculty solicitor for the drive.

B.S.U. CONVENTION TO BE OCT. 22-24

The State Baptist Student Union Convention will be held in Winston-Salem, October 22-24. Registration begins at three o'clock Friday afternoon.

Worship service will begin at seven o'clock, the speaker being Rev. Francis W. McPeck, director of the department of social welfare, Washington Federation of Churches, speaking on "The Church versus Crime." Some of the forums to be held are: "Spiritual Peril and Moral Compromise," led by Dr. O. T. Binkley; "Private Devotion and Public Worship," by Dr. Bill Marshall;

Kappa Nu Sigma

The Kappa Nu Sigma held the first of its regular meetings on Thursday, October 7, in the student council room. Ann Kramer, president, presided, and the club discussed its plans for the year, which include its annual chapel program, banquet, and Kappa Nu Sigma scholarship. Members present were Virginia Ayers, vice president; Betty Miller, secretary and treasurer; Ann White, Mary Hill, Annie Mary Matthews, and Charlotte Green. Faculty members attending were Dr. Mary Yarbrough, Dr. Helen Price, Dr. Mary Lynch Johnson, Miss Margaret Kramer, Miss Ellen Brewer, and Miss Marjorie Purrus.

Who Was Susie Q?

The identity of Susie Q was revealed Friday afternoon, October 8, in the rotunda, at the first meeting of the Student League of Women Voters. Susie Q, this would-be lady of intrigue, appeared in the personage of Hannah Savage. By her entrance, she interrupted a history of the club being given by Catherine Powell, but by her questions Susie Q and the other new members learned the purpose of the Student League of Women Voters and its place on the Meredith campus. At this meeting, Susie Q made her first step toward becoming an intelligent voter and civic leader, and the programs for the year will be based on her progress toward achieving her goal.

MERCHANTS GIVE PARTY FOR NEW STUDENTS

The Raleigh Merchants Bureau gave a party in Needham Broughton High School auditorium last night in honor of new students of Raleigh. Meredith, Peace, St. Mary's, State, Wake Forest, and business school students, who are attending school here for the first time this year, were present. A stage entertainment was provided and there was a social period. Fred Fletcher was in charge of the party. This event has been given for new Raleigh students for several years, by the Raleigh Merchants Bureau.

CORRECTION

The B-Hive schedule for Sunday is 5:30-6:00 instead of 5:00-5:30, as was published in The Twig of October 2.

Big Sisters To Give Party For Little Sisters

Tonight from five-thirty until seven o'clock the junior class big sisters will entertain their little sisters in the freshman class and the transfers at a supper party to be served cafeteria style. The juniors are to take their own little sisters and the seniors are to take their little sister in the junior class who transferred from other schools.

The supper will be served cafeteria style with potato salad, slaw, sandwiches, hamburgers, cold drinks, and ice cream. Records and piano playing will be enjoyed.

Those in charge of the party are Doniphan Gilkeson, secretary of the Junior class, and Doris Tulbert, treasurer of the class. Annie Catherine Barden is to be chairman of the food committee, Eileen Hoggard, chairman of entertainment, and Laura Ellen McDaniel in charge of arrangements.

World Fellowship Plans Many Projects For Year

The World Fellowship group is a volunteer organization made up of those girls who wish to do definite Christian work here in college; for example, teaching a Sunday school class in the jail, mission, or in one of the churches, or leading in any phase of the religious life. Meetings are held once a month, with teacher's meetings being held weekly.

The work of the World Fellowship is wide-spread and includes many phases of Christian service. One group of girls teaches classes in the county jail; another group goes to the prison farm and another group conducts Sunday school, junior choir, and birthday parties at the Mission. Still others teach classes in the churches. Plans are being made for a continuation of each of these phases of the work this year. The work at the Mission is progressing rapidly. There is a board made up of representatives from the Baptist churches in town, that helps direct the work and provides funds which are needed for the work.

Officers of the group are: president, Olene Sinclair; vice president, Hazel Grady; secretary, Zelma Murrey; and social chairman, Julia Hoover.

The Infirmary is Your Protection

Some of the Meredith girls think that the infirmary is a place to be afraid of, that it will catch them when they aren't looking, and shove them into bed for a week or two. If they have to stay up there for any length of time, however, they come to realize the gentle and protecting concern of the infirmary spirit. They are made to feel that they don't have to worry about anything, that all they have to do is to lie back on soft pillows, rest, and do their best to get well. They come to love the nurses, who are real friends of every Meredith girl.

Last year the reception room of the infirmary was re-decorated and dedicated to three women who are important in its history—Dr. Delia Dixon Carroll, Mrs. Olivia Norwood, and Miss Nora Kelly. Pictures of these three "angels of mercy" are being obtained for the reception room. Dr. Carroll and Mrs. Norwood began work together as the backbone of the infirmary when Meredith College was first opened in 1899. Dr.

Carroll was the beloved college physician until her death in 1934; Mrs. Norwood, a practical nurse, honored and loved by all alumnae, who knew her as "Son," cared for Meredith girls until she retired because of ill health in 1932. Miss Nora Kelly, a graduate of Mississippi Infirmary, had charge of the infirmary from 1933 to 1941, under Dr. Bessie E. Lane, college physician. Miss Kelly organized the infirmary and started it working on a business-like basis. She started keeping records of office and bed patients, and individual files concerning each student on the campus.

The present infirmary staff is composed of Miss Myrtle Barnette of Brevard, a graduate of the Baptist Hospital, and Miss Annie Wilson of Winston-Salem, also a graduate of the Baptist Hospital. Dr. Bessie E. Lane, of Raleigh, is the college physician, giving all the students physical examinations annually and visiting the infirmary daily.
