Physical Education Department Completes Plans For Annual Program

The May Day Festival, which will take place on our campus at 3:30 p.m. on May 3, will be the highlight of Hospitality Week-end. The queen to reign over the festivities of the afternoon, Jetta Funderburk, will carry the traditional bouquet of purple iris, the college flower. The maid of honor, Esther Hooker, and class attendants will wear pastel dresses.

The class attendants are Dot Childress and Hazel Williamson, freshmen; Jeanne Dickens and Edith Cooper, sophomores; Betty Davis and Lou Ella Hoots, juniors; Letha Bullock and Jean Witherspoon, seniors.

The theme of the program to be carried out is "The Land of Dolls." The queen's military escort as she enters the court will be the wooden soldiers. The flower girls who are members of Mrs. Emeline Foster's folk dance class will represent little French dolls.

The two folk dance classes will be dressed as Jinter and Dutch dolls and will present dances for the queen. The tap dance class will portray pickaninnies. Members of the Folk Dance Club will represent nationality and character dolls such as Jack-in-the-Box, Dresden China dolls, magic dolls, Raggedy Ann and Andy, Tyrolean dolls, and Scotch, Chinese, Japanese, Swedish, and French dolls.

Members of the class in physical education for classroom teachers will be dressed as English dolls and will wind the May Pole.

The Athletic Association is in charge of decorations and arrangements, while full plans for May Day are under auspices of the Physical Education Department.

Anthology Goes To Publishers

The anthology of poetry by Meredith students and alumni has been prepared and taken to the printers, and although as yet it is not certain that it will be printed by the end of school this year, it is hoped that it will be. The Colton English Club is sponsoring the anthology and has received support from many organizations and classes. The TWIG, the Acorn and the Bee-Hive each have contributed $50, the Freshman class has contributed $10, and the other classes $25 each, while the Alumni Association has given $100. The college as a whole has pledged its support.

The title of the Anthology, "With a Song" was taken from the Alma Mater, "We Salute Thee With a Song," and seems appropriate. Everyone is looking forward to receiving this publication.

and if all goes well, Sara Pope will be sporting off "her Ed," from her home town. Others have chosen just as well the right date for the occasion, and if the weather permits, the freshman party will be worthy of all anticipations.

Glee Club To Sing Spring Concert

On Friday evening, May 2, at 8:30 o'clock, the Meredith College Glee Club, directed by Miss Beatrice Donley, will present its annual Spring Concert in the College Auditorium. Emily Hine is the accompanist for the Glee Club. The following program will be presented:

Dramatists Plan Early Production

The Little Theater will produce "The Romantic Young Lady" on Saturday, May 3. The play is a light comedy written by Martinez-Sierra. Playing the leads will be Sally Lou Taylor and Bob Butchart from State College. Those having supporting roles are Mitchell Lee, Christine Williamson, Marjorie King, Gazelle Moore, Jim Streetter, John Faulk, Bob Freeman, Lewis Lowder. Miss Catherine Hilderman of the Speech Department will direct the play, while Evelyn Straughan will be stage manager, with Dot Howerton as her assistant. Christine Bordeaux will be scene technician; Dot Beland, the electrician; Mary Humphrey, the property mistress; Helen Wallis the costume mistress; and Dot Clarke will handle make-up. Dorothy Loftin is president of the Little Theater.

Alumnae To Issue Spring Bulletin

From a short column in the TWIG a magazine of which the alumnae can well be proud has grown. The first issue came out last winter and was distributed to the home mailing office of 3,200. This spring will bring out a second issue which will from now on be followed by summer and winter numbers. After the first issue, however, it was necessary to send the issues only to the subscribers or contributors to the Loyalty Fund.

Included in the bulletin are alumnae reports, faculty and campus news, and feature articles done by various members of the staff and other alumnae. Dr. Norma Rose ('36) is the editor, and assisting her as staff members are: Dr. Mary L. Johnson ('17), Miss Ione Knight ('43), Mrs. Eleanor E. Williams ('37), and Miss Mae Grimmer ('14).

Of special interest are the pictures of alumnae children and class notes. The feature article of the spring issue is "Meredith Missionaries I Have Known" by Mrs. J. S. Farmer ('07). Reports from alumnae office show that the first issue was warmly received and answered with scores of letters of congratulation and hope for continued success.

N. C. Symphony Plays Here Tonight

The North Carolina Symphony directed by Dr. Benjamin Swalin will appear in Raleigh at the Hugh Morson High School auditorium tonight at 8:30. The symphony is comprised of musicians throughout the state and is currently making a six-weeks tour. Of especial interest to Raleigh audience will be a "Suite for Strings" by Thad Jones, who lived in this city for some time.

- Symphony No. IV.....Tschaikowsky
Suite for Strings.....Jones
Prelude to "Afternoon of a Faun".....Debussy
Wine, Women, and Song.....Strauss
Overture to Tannhauser.....Wagner

JUNIORS FETE SENIOR CLASS

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet highlighted the week-end of April 19, the theme for the evening being centered around a "Mexican Moonglo Supper Club." The dining hall was decorated with gay colored stripes, and the palms and cacti gave the supper club that typical Mexican touch. Dr. Harry E. Cooper remained near the hat check stand throughout the evening while little Mexican girls went around to the tables and brought the couples up to have their pictures made. Members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes dressed in Mexican attire acted as waitresses, while other Mexican girls wandered around from table to table passing numerous notes and greeting the dates.

During the course of the banquet, a varied program was presented, interspersed with special requests played by Cecil McClees and his band. Senorita Umbellina Landeras sang several numbers in Spanish and Miss Elizabeth Fuller rendered a Spanish tap dance. The freshman stunt was a satire on Moonglow presenting Sam Beardo in Mexico City. The audience was surprised to find at the close of the stunt, that the real Mr. Sam Beardo was present at the banquet.

After the banquet, everyone gathered in the auditorium to hear a recording transcription made of "Moonglow" for WPTF radio station. Mrs. Lillian Parker Wallace, Junior Class sponsor, played "Claire de Lune." Vicky Manty played an original piano composition. At 12:10 the occasion was over with the usual "Buenos noche" to everyone.

Freshmen Stage Picnic Tomorrow

All freshmen are discussing plans for the coming event—which just goes to show that freshman life isn't all work and no play, endless worries over chaperones, call downs, and merely being a freshman, for tomorrow evening, dressed in their pairs of most unattractive (but oh! so comfortable) blue jeans, will be approximately twenty-five couples setting out for Allen's Pond. Proof enough that the freshmen are not lacking in energy is the very evident fact that transportation there and back will be "a-la-foot"! According to President Mary Lee Rankin, the party is to meet here at school at 6:00 with Miss Doris Peterson, class advisor.

As for the most important part of the picnic, Dot Childress has promised that there will be food—"and plenty of it." On the list are "hot dogs," with all the trimmings, cole slaw, potato chips, pepsi-colas, and ice cream sandwiches.

Early planners with an eye on the man that they each should invite have been naming their decisions, and a glance will show that most of the near-by schools will be represented. Having decided on State, there will be: Emily Pool and John; Lib Holford and Bill; Sally Lou Taylor and Tom; Joyce Bandy and Bob; Ruth Ann Pierce and Cliff; Jo Wyatt and Frank; and Margaret Hall and Ernie. Dating a "Deacon" will be: Pat Phillips with Gene; Sue Page with Charles; and Juanita Wall with E. H. Having chosen a boy from out-of-town, Virginia Lee Snyder will be seen with Trew, from Burlington; Cindy Renner with Pete, from Tenafly, N. J.; Carolyn Covington with Bobby, from Rockingham; and Imogene Narron with Calvin, from Selma. Mary Lee Rankin will be dating a certain Johnny from Duke;
