

GUESTS ARRIVE FOR WEEKEND

Over 100 prospective Meredith students will be visiting the campus Hospitality Week-end, May 3 and 4. The various planning committees have done diligent work to make the week end an enjoyable experience for these visitors. It is the first official opportunity for the girls to meet Meredith, its students, and its faculty.

Registration will be from 9:00 until 12:00 Saturday morning, May 3. Events scheduled are the Horse Show at 12:30 and the crowning of the Queen at 4:00. Saturday night there will be an informal party in the hut. The two societies will provide the entertainment; the A.A. will be responsible for the decorations; the B.S.U. will furnish refreshments; and the S.G. will serve as hostesses. The girls will leave Sunday afternoon after attending church in Raleigh with their hostesses.

Remodeling Plans Are Announced

In accordance with the general program of improving campus facilities, the executive committee of the Board of Trustees has authorized certain remodeling, perhaps to be done during the summer, of the first floor of Johnson Hall. This work will complete the project begun two years ago with the removal of the steps to the library floor and their subsequent replacement with the ground floor front entrance.

The rotunda is to be floored over and used as a lobby or reception room for visitors entering the building. An additional room will be added to the business office, and a vault for the storage of financial records will be built; the registrar's office will also receive a vault for its permanent records. The bank window is to be transferred to the hall running lengthwise through the building and it will be in an outer alcove of the business office, instead of opening directly into the hall as it now does.

The Dean of Students offices will be moved from their present location on first Vann to this more centralized position. Telephone and information service, a modification of the present switchboard system, will also be located here.

Plans are being developed to move the post office to the Bee Hive building, after certain additions and changes have been made there. The space left in Johnson Hall by this move would then be used for Mr. Deyton, Director of Public Relations (whose office is now in Joyner Hall); Miss Josey; and the News Bureau (now located on the lower floor of Jones Auditorium). This arrangement would place all the administration offices in Johnson Hall.

Senior Art Exhibit Is Now On Display

Melba Virginia Burgess and Patricia Gail Barnes, Meredith's two senior art majors, now have their graduation exhibit on display in the art gallery in Joyner Hall. The exhibit, which will be up until May 10, began with an informal opening on Tuesday afternoon, April 29.

Melba's portion of the exhibit is devoted entirely to fine arts. She has paintings in oils and caseins as well as several pen and ink drawings. Patricia is showing commercial

COLLEGE VISITATION DAY HELD AT MEREDITH

College Visitation Day, sponsored by the Council on Christian Education of the Baptist State Convention, was held at Meredith College on Tuesday, April 24.
