Basketball season began last week with practices on Tuesday and Wednesday at 5:00. A large number of girls came out to practice. Most of them were freshmen. What happened to the upperclassmen? This week, class games were held in preparation for the class tournament which is scheduled immediately after Thanksgiving vacation.

Breakfast Ride Held

On Friday, November 13, eight riding enthusiasts along with Mrs. Mary M. Edwards arose early and went on a breakfast ride. The group left the stables at 6:00 a.m. and arrived back at the hut for a delicious breakfast about 7:45. Those who went thoroughly enjoyed the outing.

FOODS CLASS TOURS MARKET, PLANT

The sophomore foods class made their annual tour of the Farmers' Market and a meat-packing plant — this year Swift Company — on November 2. Mr. Jim Graham showed the class where produce was brought in, the rooms in which it was preserved, and how it was distributed. In that hour the girls saw California grapes being carried in on the railroad behind the market, an inspector grading the fruit, rooms in which fruit was left to ripen, and the produce stands.

Picnic Follows Trip

The trip to the meat-packing plant included a tour of the cold storage rooms and a look at steaks being cut. After the tour Miss Brewer took the class to her cabin for a picnic supper.

MICHALSON SPEAKS AT WESLEY LECTURES

Several Meredith students attended the Wesley lectures in Chapel Hill on November 6 and 8. Dr. Carl Michalson, professor of Systematic Theology, Drew University, was the speaker. His lecture topic on Friday night was "Injustice, Neurosis and Unbelief" and on Sunday night "Christianity and the Meaning of History."

Dr. Michalson is the author of such books as The Hinge of History, Christianity and Existentialists, and a translation of Friedrich Gogarten's The Reality of Faith.

Foundation Sponsors Lectures

The Wesley Lectures, sponsored by the Wesley Foundation at Chapel Hill, are non-sectarian in purpose and are presented in order to encourage a continuing dialogue between Christian faith and contemporary culture.

On Tuesday, November 17, Kappa Nu Sigma Honor Society presented its annual fall chapel program with Mrs. James W. Reid, a 1946 graduate of Meredith, as guest speaker. Her topic, "The Continuing Intellectual Challenge After College," was in an area with which Mrs. Reid is quite familiar and of which she is quite qualified to speak.

Clothes Chatter

By Larnette White

Any well-constructed item begins with a quality foundation; so a well dressed girl begins with the suitable foundations. For these right beginnings, we have exciting undercover news from Burton's.

I know that any girl would love to have the "Scarlet O'Hara" trim waistline, especially when wearing sheath dresses or formals, which would be just the effect obtained with one of Burton's Hollywood V-ette waist clinchers that come in black, with red lacing, to make it look like a little antique from the Colonial days.

Youthcraft has created a Hip-mold girdle with long legs designed to flatter those with heavy thighs or, for the average figure, to wear with slim slacks.

For that well-dressed feeling, as well as an immaculate appearance, Burton's carries every color imaginable in the Hollywood V-ette lace trimmed girdles with matching lace brass.

I know that every girl doesn't feel as if she needs a girdle and, to fit the needs of those who simply could use a little figure control in the garter belt, there is the appealing "Bo Peep" panty girdle in "Baa Baa Black Sheep," "Barnyard Red" or "Snow White," for the slimmer figure.

You can find your individual fit in the proper bra from the Peterpan, Sarong, and Hollywood V-ette styles in padded, lace, or cotton.

If you've ever been hesitant to buy a low back cocktail dress because you thought that you couldn't find a bra to wear with it, Burton's can remedy your problem now with their flattering lace bra equipped with criss-cross elastic strips in the back, designed to wear under a "backless" stunner.

By the way, girls, to complete your "Scarlet O'Hara" figure, you might like to have a shapely cotton Merry Widow padded bra to top your waist clincher.

Even though you'll probably have to end up buying a pair for yourself, the "petty pants" in the old-fashioned pantaloons style in red and black, green and white, sand dune beige, or lacy white, would make an adorable and unusual gift for your roommate or suitemate.

Burton's foundation department will be delighted to individually fit you in order to insure your best figure in all your clothes, as well as to advise the correct aids for posture and important youthful development.
