Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina College, spoke in the morning on the topic, "Education — the Bulwark of Tomorrow."

The afternoon feature was a question and answer period entitled "Questions from Prospective Teachers." The panel was composed of former Future Teacher presidents. Janice Meggs, who attended Meredith and who was president of the NCEA last year, was a panel member.

Ten Meredith students attended the convention.

Meredith Contributes $1453

Mrs. E. R. Collins was in charge of the United Fund Drive on our campus this year, with Anna Carter serving as the student leader. As a rough total, Meredith contributed about $1,453 to the drive with student contributions averaging about fifteen cents per person.

The money collected is given to various welfare agencies throughout the city, including the Salvation Army, homes for crippled children, and the Girl and Boy Scouts. This money is vitally important to the agencies represented, for in this way they obtain their whole means of support.

In this drive Meredith did go over the 100 per cent mark.

Clothes Chatter

The air is getting crisper . . . the trees are getting bare . . . It's getting colder and colder . . . everyone is excited about the coming Thanksgiving holidays . . . there are football games . . . Germans . . . parties . . . and wonderful weekends to look forward to. I know you have the same problem everyone else has . . . you just don't have a thing to wear! Well, Burton's has everything you're looking for and more.

Have you been wanting a skirt and sweater dyed-to-match? Jane Worrell was trying on the most beautiful blue pleated wool flannel skirt and a blue bulky knit sweater. The sweater was a quarter-length sleeved cardigan. Jane told me that she tired on two other styles of sweaters that matched the pleated skirt. The outfit comes in green, lavender, white, turquoise, gold, and beige.

I saw Betsy Forbes at the cosmetics counter. She was trying to decide on a gift for one of her friends for her birthday. Burton's has wonderful selections of Elizabeth Arden and Antoine cosmetics. If Betsy decides on jewelry she will find costume jewelry of all kinds that will make any outfit look complete. If you're having a problem with a gift or just need cosmetics or jewelry, be sure to stop by Burton's.

As I was leaving Burton's I saw Phyllis Hart trying on the most luscious turquoise two-piece dress and jacket ensemble. This ensemble would be perfect for Phyllis to wear out to dinner and then to a concert or just about anywhere during the holidays. The dress is lightweight wool. It is semi-belted to give waist interest and has a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The jacket has quarter-length sleeves, a stand-away collar, a tailored bow at the neckline, and buttons down the front. There are so many lovely new things at Burton's . . . you just must stop by.
