M.C.A. to Include Representatives From All Denominations on Campus

The constitution of the Meredith Christian Association, newly-organized religious group on the campus, has been completed and approved.

The committee which worked out the constitution was composed of Beth Woodall, Carol Coxe, Carol Christian West, Betty Sodeman, Sylvia Cooper, and Mrs. R. A. Pritchard, BSU adviser. Work on the constitution was begun in the spring of 1962 and carried on throughout the present school year.

Recitals Are Slated For Remaining Weeks

Several recitals have been scheduled for April. Mary Alice Bell will play her first full length organ recital on April 26. On the twenty-ninth of this month the music faculty will present their recital sponsored by S.A.I. On April 30, a voice recital will be given by Gloria Perry with June Whitley as her accompanist.

In May, several recitals will be given. Susan Leathers will present her graduating recital in organ on May 3. Susan, president of the Organist Guild Chapter at Meredith, also completed her student teaching in music last semester. One number Susan will perform will be the "E Major Chorale" by Cesar Franck.

Then on May 4 the chorus gives

Methods of Reorganizing

Two methods of reorganizing the BSU were discussed last year. One plan was to change the name of the BSU to the Meredith Christian Association and keep the same general structure of the present BSU. A committee, consisting of Meredith student leaders and administration personnel plus directors of the other denominational student groups, was appointed by Dr. Campbell. This group suggested that there be either an MCA and a BSU, or that there be organized student groups of all the separate denominations on campus.

Upon consultation with the state directors of these denominational groups, it was decided that they would be better able to serve Meredith students by remaining church-centered, as they presently are, instead of organizing campus-centered groups. The BSU's policy has always been to have a campus-centered organization; therefore, the committee suggested that there be an MCA, composed of representatives from all denominations with a representation on campus of fifteen or more, as well as a separate BSU for Baptists.

Plans Drawn Up

With this recommendation, the constitution committee drew up the plans for the MCA, recently completing the constitution for the student body.

Membership in the MCA is com-

Students Attend SIASG in Fla.

"We are well aware of the fast-changing trends in education and in student government, and we anticipate sharing with you the exciting responsibility of trying to find our own role in this challenging period," stated Etter McTeer Turner, Dean of Women at Stetson University where the Southern Inter-Collegiate Association of Student Governments was held on April 18-21.

Meredith Representatives

Representing Meredith at the conference were Sue Ennis, Frieda Farmer, and Lura Penney who left on the train on April 18 to arrive in time for registration and dinner at the university. The next morning after breakfast and a general session, the girls heard Dean Turner's keynote address. Stressing the importance of the dignity of the individual rather than the regulation, Dean Turner went on to emphasize the importance of helping each girl find her place in S.G.A. Later that day Dr. Margaret Fisher, director of student personnel at the University of Florida, developed the concept of roles and relationships on the campus. She pointed out that it is the student government which acts as a bond between the campus, the self, and others.

The representatives from all the campuses then split into smaller groups. Sue Ennis led the group studying "Problems of Election Procedures." Lura attended the dis-

Peggy Fish Selects Over 30 Counselors

Peggy Fish looks over list of new counselors.

Peggy Fish, chief counselor for 1963-64, has announced that thirty-five students have been selected to serve as counselors to freshmen next year. The chief counselor added that the number of counselors is determined by the number of incoming freshmen. This year forty-five counsel groups were required to meet the enrollment needs.

Most Counselors Sophomores

Approximately three-fourths of the counselors have been selected from the sophomore class and one-fourth of the number are upperclassmen. The students have been chosen to aid the college counseling program on the basis of recommendations from faculty advisors, counselors, hall proctors, the chief counselor, and Miss Lu Leake who is in charge of the total counseling program.

To plan for May Day Weekend in which the counselors will serve as hostesses, the new counselors will meet April 25 at 7:00 in the faculty parlor. At this time committees will be named to make arrangements for Hospitality Weekend May 3-5, when incoming freshmen have been invited to visit the campus.

The new counselors are Mary Allcott, Alice Atwill, Sherron Boyd, Janet Brown, Jeanne Bryant, Joyce Cannaday, Elaine Carlson, Jean Cooley, Sheryl Crowe, Virginia Dunston, Robin Gentry, Betty Godwin, Nancy Godwin, Anna Jane Guion, Kay Hall, "Missy" Harring-

p.m., the annual May Court will be presented with Helen Daniel of Elm City reigning as queen of the festivities and Joy Harrington as Maid of Honor. As additional entertainment, the modern dance classes of Mrs. Frances Stevens perform with "The Tercentary Anniversary of North Carolina" as their theme.

Concluding the May Day festivities will be a concert by the Meredith College Chorus led by Miss Beatrice Donley in Jones Auditorium at 8:00 p.m. followed by an open house for the visitors of the college in the Blue Parlor.

On Sunday morning the guests will attend Raleigh churches accompanied by their hostesses. They will return home in the afternoon.

On Thursday night, April 18, the executive committee of the board of trustees met for a dinner meeting at the home of college president, Dr. Carlyle Campbell.

At this time the committee accepted a recommendation from the curriculum committee that all students earn a major in an academic field while at Meredith. The committee expressed hearty approval of the work being done by the education department, although the elementary education major has been discontinued. As a result of the action, the future elementary teacher from Meredith will have, in addition to her work in education, a major in one of the academic fields offered by the college.
