

Hubbard Merits NSF Grant

By VERONICA RABB

Judith Marie Hubbard, a nineteen-year old sophomore at Meredith has been awarded a grant from the National Science Foundation. This grant will enable Judy to do research in the field of chemistry for ten weeks this summer at UNC-R. She will be working with Dr. Dauterman in the department of life sciences. When asked what exciting things her summer will involve, Judy answered that she will be living in Bragaw dormitory from June 8 through August 10! At the end of the ten weeks session, Judy will write a paper on the accomplishments and experiments she made during the summer and turn the account in to the Science Foundation.

Judy modestly said that all she did to get the award was apply; however, with this application were her transcript and recommendations from Dr. Ernest Canaday and Dr. Mary Yarbrough. When questioned as to what sort of experiments she had worked on recently, Judy replied, "Just regular, old organic-chemistry experiments!" A chemistry and math major, Judy plans to go to graduate school at UNC-CH and then be a college teacher of "regular, old, organic-chemistry!"

Hinsley Study; Oberlin Degree

Dru Hinsley was awarded a diploma in managing by the National Association of College Stores on April 29, 1964.

For the past two summers, Dru attended Oberlin College in Ohio, where she took courses in store managing. Dru considers it an honor to be awarded scholarships for two summers from this organization. Previously, scholarships were given for only one summer.

Since Dru could not attend the National Association of College Stores Convention in San Francisco, California, her Diploma is being mailed to her. Dru is at present the manager of the supply store at Meredith.

Zoology Excursion to Beaufort Consists of Varied Activities

Biology major, Florence Dickens, puts away specimen obtained on Beaufort trip.

The zoology class of Meredith College visited the Duke Marine Laboratory at Beaufort, North Carolina, on Friday, April 24. The project is an inclusive part of the course. It began at 2:30 on Friday afternoon and ended with a seafood dinner at Toni's.

On Saturday the students were sent out to collect the many types of marine specimens to be found there, beginning by dragging the nearby sound for sea urchins, starfish, and other sea creatures. The coldness and dampness, however, prevented the planned excursions to collect on Radio Island and a nearby mud flat. The students, therefore, spent their Saturday evening watching T.V. All those specimens that had been collected were put in tanks on Sunday morning and returned to Meredith.

The most prized findings were a group of sea urchins with short spines, rather than the customary long-spined variety.

Lipscomb Plans To Journey North To Live and Study French in Quebec

By JUDY RILEY

What would it be like to speak nothing but French for six weeks?

In excited anticipation of her summer study, Beverly Lipscomb packs for her trip to Quebec.

This is what Beverley Lipscomb, rising Meredith senior, will do this summer when she attends the Universite Laval, the oldest French-speaking university in America.

Beverley will go to the University in Quebec this summer to take several French courses. Her mornings will be spent in classes and the language laboratory. She will be taking a conversation course which includes phonetics and folklore. She will also spend time each morning on a literature course.

Beverley's afternoons will be spent in study or on tours which the college plans, both pleasure and sightseeing tours.

When she arrives on July 3, she will take placement tests to see which section she will be put in. The school arranges for the students to live with a French-Canadian family so they will have constant exposure to French. Beverley will find out in June the name of the family with which she will live.

When the session is completed on August 14, Beverley plans to return home by way of Massachusetts where her roommate, Janet Hines, will be working. She also hopes to stop in New York to visit the World's Fair.

BSU Washings Bring Profits

Saturday, April 25, the BSU groups of State and Meredith sponsored a car wash at the Esso Retail Center on Hillsboro St. across from Meredith. Approximately twenty students washed cars from 8:15 a.m. until 7:00 p.m. at the price of $1.25 per car. The BSU made a total of $86.00 for the LISTEN fund. The LISTEN fund project is sponsored by all the BSU groups of North Carolina to aid in carrying out a work project in Korea.

A hot afternoon recently found Carol Andrews and LaRue Pearce at Mac Josephs boosting their beach wardrobes. Carol, with her fast-approaching summer in Italy in mind, was struck by a two-piece Jantzen. The top, in a floral print of red, blue, yellow, and green on a white background, is complemented by royal blue jersey shorts with boy legs. LaRue's fancy was caught by a one-piece Bay Club suit composed of a red, white, and blue madras top, with straps buttoning on the shoulders, and navy cotton-knit shorts. Waiving the difficult decision involved in the choice of one swim suit,

LaRue also chose a two-piece creation by Elizabeth Stewart in two shades of pink. Especially attractive on a tall girl, this suit has a loose, straight top in light pink jersey tucks with a deeper pink lastex trim. The shorts are of the same rich pink.

Carol, who has visions of water-skiing on Italian lakes this summer, found another suit to her liking in the form of a one-piece Cole of California. This Arnel jersey suit has a green paisley bottom set off by a white yoked top, featuring a deep V-back.

The midriff, which has a white sash, exhibits the relaxed look. Whether they are on the Italian Riviera or on the Atlantic coast, both Carol and LaRue are looking forward to wearing their new swim suits from
