JUDICIAL — members of the faculty appointed by president (on recommendation of dean of students) to serve as members of Judicial Board on matters of disciplinary matters.

The Student Life committee and the Academic Council also report to

As arms of the administrative system of Meredith, the committees described above can serve as receptors to student suggestions for changes and improvements. A list of committee members is provided so that students will know whom to contact with their ideas. Students may not realize that they do not have to complain to their roommate, they can complain to someone on a committee so something can be done!

Trashy Seniors Win Award

On Thursday, November 4, the Student Government Association sponsored "Golden Trash Day." It has been called to the attention of many Meredith students that trash is becoming an increasing problem

The object of "Trash Day" was to see which of the four classes could gather the most trash from the campus. Large plastic bags were placed in front of the cafeteria, and the seniors won the award.

Interested In Grad School?

Today was graduate school day at the Hut! Many area schools sent representatives, and the hours were from one o'clock to five o'clock this afternoon. Free Pepsis, courtesy of the Pepsi Cola Bottling Company, were served.

The following schools sent representatives: University of Richmond, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, University of Maryland, North Carolina State University, Appalachian University, Converse College, Wake Forest University, Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary, and the University of Virginia.

NC-PIRG Presents

(Continued from page 1) of Freedom" by Crosby, Stills, Nash, and Young. Even the songs written by a member of the group, John Casey, had a professional flavor. The only damper of the whole concert was the small audience, although they were extremely responsive to the group.

The Meredith NC-Pirg earned about $110 from the proceeds. The organization hopes to have the group back again in January as more publicity is gained.

"---I would never do it again."

The three girls pictured on the first page of this issue have two hours of credit under their belts. What is so unusual about this? Delores Floyd, Madelyn Sloan, and Ruth Edwards sewed all of the costumes that were worn in the Meredith production of "The Sound of Music." Each girl received two hours of credit for sewing.

For several months the parlor of third north dormitory was transrormed into a sewing room. The buzzing of the busy machines became an accustomed sound on third floor. The work done by these girls on the costumes is just one example of all the "back stage" effort required to produce a play such as The Sound of Music.

When asked about her work on the costumes, Ruth Edwards replied: "Working on the costumes was a great experience, but I would never do it again. It was a very large undertaking that took a lot of time, but I am sure I will probably

"Learning for Life" Is Theme

Eight Meredith students represented Meredith at a home economics convention in Charlotte, November 4-6.

The girls representing Meredith were Beth Middleton, Krista Dedmon, Ann Laney, Cathi Drake, Bobbie Walker, Rachel Warner, Marianne Nifong, and Jeanne Tilley. The students stayed at the Holiday Inn in Charlotte.

The theme of the convention was "Learning for Life." Home economics professors from all over the state spoke on various topics. Among the speakers were Mercedes Bates, vice-president of General

Mills. The speech topic was "Life in the Age of Aquarius."

Dr. Marjorie East, department head of home economics at Pennsylvania State University, spoke on "Family Life by the Year 2000."

Dr. Helen Hilton, dean of the College of Home Economics at Iowa State University, spoke on "Women's Challenging Roles; Responsibility of Lib.'

Meredith professors also attended the convention. Those who attended are Mrs. Kay Friedrich, Mrs. Marilyn Stuber, Mrs. O'Conner, and Miss Bankston.
