

MRA Rejuvenated

The letters M.R.A. are already being heard more often on campus than ever before. "The reason," states Linda Ehrlich, MRA President, "is that the Meredith Recreation Association is starting early to provide new activities and bring back the old better than ever."

An increasingly popular means of transportation and recreation is evidenced by the presence of shining new bicycles parked in every conceivable "hitching post" on the Meredith campus. MRA is now working towards acquiring more parking space and shelters for the bikes. Also, the association is trying to find suitable areas for bike riding. The MRA sponsored a freshman bike tour which inspired possible plans for bicycle picnics to Lake Johnson or Umstead Park.

The volleyball tournament posters herald the fact that MRA is striving to revive intramural sports -- which often seem to arouse spirits on campus and provide stimulating competition. After the volleyball intramurals, basketball competition will follow -- then possibly tennis, softball, and swimming. The results of interdorm rivalry should prove to be interesting.

This spring, MRA is bringing Playday out of the attic -- which is not a good place for something as enjoyable as this might be. Playday, according to Linda Ehrlich, is, "a carnival of fun where you might be able to beat your English professor in a sack race!" Hark, ye ambitious avengers!

Keep in shape (or get in shape) and stay tuned for the traditional goodies to come: Cornhuskin', Christmas caroling, and Stunt Night will return by popular demand. The active, fun-loving personality should keep an eye on MRA this year -- they are getting things done!

The SAB under the leadership of Chairman, Linda Goodrich, has gotten off to a flying start with many projects being carried out. Currently SAB members are working on obtaining a Beehive sign for the new Supplies Store in the Student Center to retain the tradition that has existed for years at the college. Also, a college calendar will be placed in the Student Center to be available to clubs for putting up meeting times, practice times and special committee meetings. Many other special activities for the new Student Center are in the planning stage. The Meredith Student Directory, including the names, home addresses, campus addresses and telephone numbers of all students is expected to be distributed in the next few weeks.

In the plans for activities to be carried out next Spring is a Student - Faculty Play Day. All sorts of track and field activities -- sack races, three-legged races, potato races, volleyball, softball and others will be included as well as chess matches and bridge tournaments.

Yes, the activities of the SAB are in full swing! But, any students interested in working on committees or activities planned by the SAB will be welcomed. Contact Linda Goodrich, 212 Heilman, for information.

Print material relies on a straight summation of drug laws in 20 selected countries in which most Americans travel. Included for each country are the address and telephone number of the U.S. Embassy. The material points out, however, that Embassy officials can do little once an American is charged with drug law violations in another country.

Gerald N. Kurtz, Associated Administrator for Communications and Public Affairs, Health Services and Mental Health Administration, and coordinator of the project, said the campaign is being undertaken partly because there seems to be wide misunderstanding among American youth about foreign drug laws and their enforcement. Kurtz, who helped direct production of film spots to be distributed to all commercial and college stations in this country, warned that apparent lax enforcement is an illusion.

He said this misconception is encouraged sometimes by what seems to be widespread use of drugs overseas and the easy availability of mind-altering substances in many foreign countries. And he added that many drug dealers play a double game by tipping off police as to Americans to whom they have made drug sales.

Carter On Honor

In realizing the intimate seriousness of our willing commitment to the Honor Code, we are affirming our belief in the highest principles of humanity. As we live each day, there are some things that are not going to make long range differences in our lives; however, if we have lived with the knowledge that we have kept full faith in mutual trust with fellow human beings, this is of the essence of being of worthy existence.

For some 350 of us this is our initial commitment to the Honor Code at Meredith. Before you even filed application to Meredith College you were made fully aware of the Honor System and of the essential nature of its operation in our community.

We are all fully aware of our system of self-government and our individual responsibilities. The rules that we have all agreed to live under are the most obvious function of our self-government. We incorporate in a balance of freedom and self-discipline to live to our fullest. Each student assures responsibility to the Community for her own behavior.
