Master Class

A Master Class in Modern Dance will be held Tuesday, November 7, from 3-5 p.m. in Weatherspoon Gym. The class will be taught by members of Yuriko Professional Dance Company. It is open to all Meredith girls, particularly the ones who have had modern dance or dance background. Please wear leotards or gym clothes and come to participate!

Representative

Mr. Schaefer from the Square D Company will talk with December graduates who would be interested in working in Production Control, Material Control or Accounting. Any major is welcome.

Prominent Visitors

On Thursday, November 9 at 12:30, three prominent North Carolinians who have been through the rigors of law school will be available in the dining hall to talk with students who are interested in law. Judge Ed Preston is a Judge of the 10th Judicial District Court. He is the husband of Mrs. Dorothy Preston on our faculty. Mrs. Paul Holcombe is a legal writer for a publishing company. She has been a lawyer for the Department of Revenue in Kentucky and has also had a private practice in Virginia. Her husband is Assistant Director of Development at Meredith. Mrs. Thornton Mitchell is head of the Publications Division of the North Carolina Department of Archives and History. She has been Judge of Domestic Relations Court in Cabarrus County. This will be a very informal occasion. Pick up your food in the dining hall and join them for lunch and conversation.

National Poetry Contest

The National Poetry Press announces its Spring Competition for college students. The closing date for the submission of manuscripts is April 10. Any student attending either junior or senior college is eligible to submit verse. There is no limitation as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred by the Board of Judges because of space limitations. Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, and must bear the name and home address of the student, as well as the college address. Entrants should also submit the name of her English instructor.

Syron and Tucker

Dr. Leslie Syron and Dr. Charles Tucker attended the fall meeting of the North Carolina Sociological Society at High Point College on Saturday, October 21.

AID NOTICE

Financial aid applications for 1973-74 should be filed in the financial aid office BEFORE THE CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS. Any student planning to apply for student aid should obtain the necessary application forms from Mrs. Audrey Gardner in the financial aid office immediately.

Current aid recipients are reminded that a student aid application must be filed annually.

Notice— Vote at the polls November 7. If you are registered away from campus, vote by absentee ballot. If you don't know how to reach your Board of Elections, call your local McGovern, Nixon, or other campaign headquarters.

CLASS VICTORIOUS

DANCE GROUP

A limited number of tickets are available free to Meredith students (1 per student) for the concert November 8. Tickets may be obtained in the Dean of Students office until 5 p.m. on Tuesday, November 7 at $1 for students and $2 for adults. Tickets may be purchased at the theater box office. Wednesday, November 8 from 9:00 a.m. - noon any remaining tickets will be offered to Meredith faculty free.

Yuriko is and has been one of the lead dancers for the Martha Graham Company for many years; replacing Miss Graham in some revivals of dances. She has appeared on Broadway and in films of "The King and I" and "Flower Drum Song." She is dancer, teacher, choreographer and director of her company of 7 dancers.

VOTE

Critical questions confront the eleven million newly enfranchised voters approaching the ballot box. Has the man elected on a promise to end the war broken faith with the American people? Can the American people stomach the war now that the color of the bodies has changed? Has the sense of moral outrage over napalming and bombing been exhausted? Do the nominations of Carswell and Haynesworth to the highest court mark a planned retreat from the commitment to racial justice? Is the bugging of Democratic National Committee Headquarters symptomatic of an emerging Orwellian nightmare? Has the Nixon administration sold out to big business?

And what of the Senator from South Dakota? Will his economic proposals bankrupt the economy? Do the Eagleton fiasco and the "refining" of the proposals of the primaries portend a presidency based on vacillation? Will McGovern, by reducing the military budget, diminish the diplomatic flexibility of the U.S.? Invite aggression? Pave the road to war?

The questions are, of course, loaded. There are few simple answers. But remove the vituperation and the inflated promises and four facts are clear:

First: the candidates vying for the presidency differ widely in ideology and outlook. The potential voter cannot sit this one out on the grounds that the choice is between tweedle dum and tweedle dee. Second: the new voter who refuses to cast a ballot is shirking the responsibility which he claimed he deserved. To refuse to vote or to vote casually is to solicit the disgust of those who demanded the 18 year old vote. It is also to invite the smuggest "I told you so" in history from the cynics and the sceptics.

Third: the college student cannot choose to remain unaffected by the direction of national leadership. If a president of the United States chooses to tolerate unemployment and underemployment, for example, the Ph. D. of today will continue to be the cab driver of tomorrow, and students with B.S.'s and B.A.'s will continue to pour into secretarial pools and factories.

Fourth: the establishment listens to number. History will record that the young rose up from the college campuses in search of a leader to end a war they judged immoral. History SHOULD record that the young also managed to sensitize the nation to the need for ecological balance, population control, equal rights for minorities. By refusing to vote, the student invites inattention and guarantees that the interest of the young will not be served.

The message is clear. An important choice must be made. Those who use the ballot November 7 will participate in making it. Those who boycott the ballot box will succeed only in ripping themselves off.

The message is simple. VOTE.
