Wake County to raise money for N.C. Zoological Park's giraffes

The Wake County Chapter of the North Carolina Zoological Society announced this week that information sheets about the North Carolina Zoological Park would be distributed to students in the Wake County and Raleigh City Schools during the early part of May.

As a part of its membership drive, the Society is attempting to inform all of the citizens of Wake County of the project now under way which will give North Carolina the Nation's First State Zoological Park. This Park will be no ordinary Zoo and will have no cages or bars. It will, however, have many exotic as well as native mammals, birds and fish which will live in the Park in large natural habitat areas.

The Wake County Chapter is hoping to raise money primarily by selling memberships in the Zoological Society which is a charitable corporation. Proceeds from the sale of memberships will be used to buy animals for the Park, and the first $28,000.00 raised in our County will enable us to donate a pair of giraffes to the project. Our giraffes will live together with Zebra, Antelope, Ostrich, and other African animals in a large area of approximately sixty to sixty-five acres.

The more people who join the Society the sooner we will have our Park and the better it will be. Won't you help to provide animals for our Park? Urge your friends, neighbors and families to join the North Carolina Zoological Society. Send your application and check to Post Office Box Zoo, Raleigh, North Carolina 27611.

CLASS DAY

Class Day will take place Saturday, May 11 in the amphitheatre with the traditional ivy and daisy chain used by the sophomores to spell out "74" on the island for their Big Sisters, the Seniors.

Sophomores will start as early as 5:30 a.m. in their hunt for daisies and ivy by meeting in front of Johnson for breakfast. After searching the fields and woods around Raleigh, the sophomores will meet in the oak grove behind the Alumnae House at 8:00 a.m. to begin construction of the chain. At 3:30 p.m. the sophomores will meet again to carry the daisy chain down to the island for the Class Day activities which will begin at 4:00 p.m. As the Class of 1974 enters the amphitheatre the sophomores will sing the Commencement Song. Then the Classes of 1974 and 1976 will sing the Big Sister-Little Sister Song to each other.

Duchess Sarah Leigh Shell and Duke Allen Page reigned over this year's annual Play Day events on Thursday, April 25. Relay races, student-faculty challenges, and the faculty-student softball game, which the faculty won, highlighted the day. Stringfield was the winner of dorm competition. A picnic in the courtyard followed the activities.
