

THE TWIG

Newspaper of the Students of Meredith College

VOL. LVIII, NO. 19

MEREDITH COLLEGE, RALEIGH, N.C.

MARCH 27, 1980

Classes compete in Stunt '80

There was a showdown in Jones Auditorium last Wednesday night, and the junior class came out the victors.

At Stunt Night last week the class of '81 continued their winning season by coming in first place with the best stunt. The junior stunt, entitled "Staredown at Cate City," was a spoof on Hollywood's musical veterans. Gail Nichols entertained the audience as a Mae West-ish saloon keeper, and Sheriff Kiki Massenburg heroically defended the town from master starer Black Bart, alias Tammy Cherry.

The "Non-People's Choice Awards," presented by the senior class, took second place in the stunt competition. The senior's theme was the presidential election system of the future. Instead of the national balloting used today, candidates took part in a game show. Contestants competed in such events as baby kissing and hand shaking before a panel of celebrity judges, namely, Mao Tse-tung, Leonid Brezhnev and the Ayatollah Khomeini.

In the sophomore stunt - "Meredith's Medical Madness," the fairy Godfather from Cornhuskin '79 struck again. The class looked into the subject of re-accreditation.

The freshmen presented "A Call to Colors," based on the idea of a female draft. Meredith's youngest class put a new twist in the induction physical.

Judging was done by Louise Crouch, Meredith class of 1976, Emily Johnson, class of 1975, Dr. Reid from the biology department, and geography professor Dr. Vergean Birkin. The chief judge was Dr. Dot Preston from the math department.

During the judges' balloting the Ensemble entertained the audience with a medley of love songs by Irving Berlin, Barry Manilow, Olivia Newton-John, and Crystal Gayle.

Junior class takes victory in Stunt '80 with "Staredown at Cate City." (Photo by Peggy Williford)

College votes needed - Register!

by Carol Lancaster

The 26th Amendment to the United States Constitution lowered the voting age to 18. The impact of the legislation is reflected in the efforts of candidates to channel a portion of these new voters into their campaigns as staff members, volunteers, and most importantly, as voters. The seven and a half million collegians represent a group of voters that any party or candidate ignores at its own peril.

Collegians, however, are generally not able to register in the county in which they are in school. Until new state election laws evolve regarding student registration, the procedure governing students will remain the same as the procedure for all voters in North Carolina. A student must follow these steps in order to vote absentee in their home county. First, she must request an application for an absentee ballot. It is sufficient to state that one is a registered voter in that county and will not be present for the entire period that the polls are open. Secondly, upon receipt of the application, she must fill it out and return it to the county board. Thirdly, she will receive her ballot that she completes and returns.

A voter may apply for an absentee ballot 60 days prior to the election that she desires to vote in. She may not secure an absentee ballot later than 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday before the election, that falls on Tuesday, November 7. (Taken from a September 14, 1978 issue of The TWIG)

Stock VP to visit

Dr. Johanna Read Dunn, Vice-President in the New York Future Exchange, will be on campus April 20-25 as the second in a series of four Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellows. During her week stay on campus, Dr. Dunn will be involved in a variety of activities with students and faculty.

Dr. Johanna Read Dunn - Visiting Woodrow Wilson Fellow. (Photo by Edward C. Topple, N.Y.S.E. Photographer)

According to an Exchange release, Dr. Dunn joined the Exchange staff in 1976 and has worked as a Communications Specialist in the Market Surveillance and Evaluation Division of the Trading Operations Department. Prior to that, she held a similar position in the Department of Member Firms of the Regulation and Surveillance Group.

Before joining the Exchange, Dr. Dunn was a Communication Consultant to Citicorp; Norton Simon; and Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and had been associated with the consulting firm of McKinsey and Company, Inc.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Barnard College, she received her M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University and did post-graduate studies at the Sorbonne in Paris.

Dr. Dunn is married and resides in New York City.

Upcoming recitals

March 27, 8:00 p.m. Kay Gardner, Guest flute recital, Carswell.

March 28, 5:00 p.m. Amy Eidson, and Kelley Stone, Sophomore organ recital, Jones Auditorium.

March 30, 3:00 p.m. Jean Ann Hull and Diane Hoggard, Graduation voice and Junior piano recital, Carswell.

Notes from Mediation Panel

Accusation: Violation of the Honor Code concerning male visitation.

Verdict: Guilty

Penalty: Suspension for spring semester 1980. The Mediation Panel encouraged her to reapply for summer school and/or for fall semester 1980.

Accusation: Plagiarism

Verdict: Guilty
Penalty: Reprimand for spring semester 1980.

RUMMAGE SALE
2:00 - 7:00 1st Brewer
APRIL 8
Call Sharon Davis
828-5408
For more Information.

Great Raleigh Road Race

Hackney's Third Annual Great Raleigh Road Race will be held on Sunday, March 30, at 3:00. The run, which will begin at the State Capital building and end at Dorton Arena, will cover 10,000 meters (6.2 miles) and involve thousands of runners. (In last spring's race over 4,000 people participated.) If you are interested in running, you can get information about entering and preparation for the run from Dr. Samson (110 Joyner), who says that last year's run was so much fun that anyone in shape to run 6 miles really should enter the race on the 30th.

Lectures and Discussions

A series of lectures and discussion on problems in America will begin at Meredith College in March, co-sponsored by the N.C. Humanities Committee, the Foreign Policy Association, and the College. The coordinator is Dr. Charles V. Stewart of the history department.

The 1980 topics are as follows:

March 18 - The Mideast and the Gulf: U.S. Policy in Ferment, Dr. Vrabi Mustafa, Director of International Studies, Shaw University

March 25 - The United Nations at 35: Illusions and Realities, Dr. Keith Peterson, Department of Political Science, N.C. State University

April 1 - Eastern Europe: Emerging from Moscow's Shadow? Dr. Joseph Mastro, Department of Political Science, N.C. State University

April 8 - Humanity on the Move: How Migration Affects Us? Dr. Alejandro Portes, Department of Sociology, Duke University

April 15 - Brazil's Rising Power: What Weight in the World Scale? Mr. Max V.

Krebs, Former U.S. Ambassador to Guyana

April 22 - Vietnam and Its Neighbors: Big Powers and Little Wars, Dean Robert Tilman, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, N.C. State University

April 29 - The World Energy Crunch: America's Choices - At Home and Abroad, Professor Joseph Straley, Department of Physics, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

History & Political Science

The Department of History and Political Science has been chosen by the Educational Testing Service, Princeton University, as one of those Departments throughout the nation who will aid the University in developing future Advanced Placement Tests in American History.

Princeton will send the Department a series of test questions to be taken by American History students in May. The University will then determine the level of knowledge in American History, at the sophomore level, revealed at Meredith. This level will be coordinated with similar test results from the other specified colleges and universities throughout the nation.

The data will be used in making future AP Tests in American History.

Sue Kearney, Admissions

On March 14 and 15, thirty-four prospective freshmen interviewed for the Julia Hamlet Harris Scholarships to be awarded to twelve entering freshmen next year. Dr. Clara Bunn, Dr. Allen Burris, Dr. Roger Crook, and Dr. Norma Rose comprised the faculty selection committee.