

Meredith receives bequest

Meredith College has received a bequest in excess of $100,000 from the estate of the late Ellen Dozier Brewer, professor emerita and former chairman of the home economics department of the women's college, Meredith President John E. Weems has announced.

Part of the money will be applied toward construction of a $1 million chapel on the campus, and the balance will be used to establish the Love Bell Brewer Scholarship in honor Miss Brewer's mother.

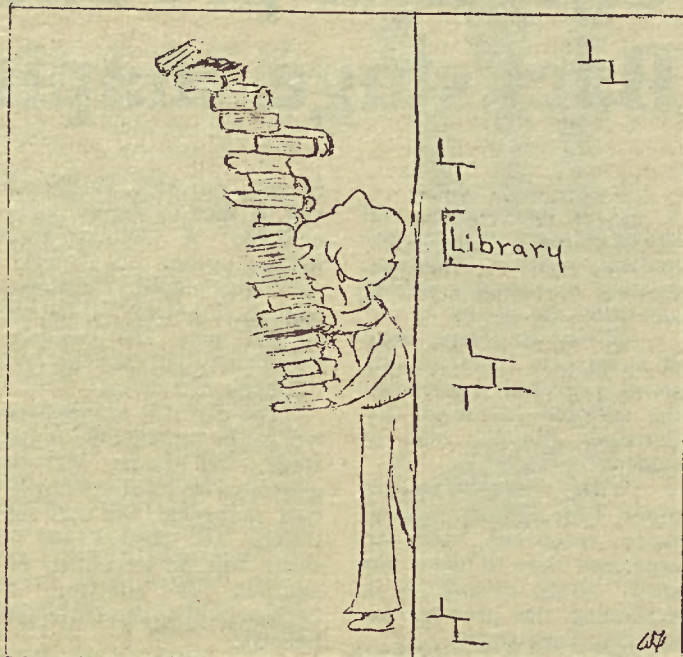

Student aid funds and the chapel represent two segments of the $20 million Visions Program at Meredith.

"Miss Ellen Brewer's life was an inspiration to all who knew her," President Weems said. "Her exemplary Christian witness embodied the highest ideals of Meredith. Her influence is on-going in our department of home economics and the gift from her estate is a further example of her love and devotion to Meredith."

Miss Brewer died at her home on September 19, 1979, at the age of 82. She had served as the first chairman of the department of home economics at Meredith from 1922 until her retirement in 1966. The home management house at Meredith was named in her honor as the result of a gift from a relative, the late Talcott Wait Brewer, a Raleigh businessman.

A native of Wake Forest, Miss Brewer's father became Meredith's third president while she was an undergraduate student at the women's college. She graduated from Meredith in 1918, taught English at Meredith in 1919, and then earned her bachelor's and master's degrees in home economics from Columbia University.

ANGEL

Science club plans

Trips to the Smithsonian Museum and the Natural History Museum and a debate on evolution were among the plans for 1980-81 discussed at the first meeting of the Barber Science Club last Wednesday.

Meetings will be the first Wednesdays in each month at 7:30 p.m., with membership dues of $1 per semester. On Oct. 1, Dr. Lyn Aubrecht will speak in 107 Hunter at 7:30 p.m. on the active role of science majors in the PAGE program for gifted and talented children.

In November, science club members will visit the Natural History Museum in Raleigh and will sponsor a debate on evolution during the Life Decisions Symposium. A short business meeting and Christmas party are planned for December.

A trip to the Smithsonian, open to members only, is tentatively scheduled for the first weekend of April. To decrease expenses, two fundraisers will be held: a sale of Current stationery and other products and a pizza sale on Oct. 29 at 9:00 p.m.

Please check the bulletin board between Dr. Bunn's and Dr. Reid's offices for future announcements. For further information, contact Paula Wetherington (828-6536), Terri Hoffman (828-6536), Tammy Hall (833-1736), or Anne Earp (821-1265).

Meredith students save workman's life

by Kathy O'Brien

Two Meredith women last Tuesday played key roles in the emergency care which helped a construction worker reach Wake Medical Center alive.

Susan Jane Owen and Karen Mills, both sophomores, gave Laddie O. Faison, who had apparently suffered a heart attack, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while waiting for the arrival of an ambulance to carry the man to the hospital.

Faison, 61, is an employee of the W.C. Vicker Construction Company, contracted to repair and replace the brick walks around campus. According to Mrs. Magdaline J. Nelson, a spokesperson for the company, Faison had been sitting on a stack of bricks when the attack occurred.

The job foreman, J. E. Bailey, was present at the time and told Ms. Owen and Ms. Mills he assumed Faison had passed out from the heat. Temperatures Tuesday were reported in the low 90's.

Ms. Mills was passing by at the time, and she said she went over to see if she could help.

"I didn't know what to do at first. The other man (Bailey) scared me. I couldn't find a pulse. The other man looked at me and said 'he's dead, isn't he?' I started massaging his chest then," Ms. Mills said.

As she began the chest massage, Ms. Owen and her roommate, Virginia Workman, arrived while Ms. Workman left to call security for an ambulance, Ms. Owen asked Bailey if he knew mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

"They said he wasn't breathing. I asked if anyone knew mouth-to-mouth and he (Bailey) just looked at me funny, so I thought I should try," she explained.

Ms. Owen, who has a first aid certification, said the experience was frightening. It was only after Faison began breathing again that a nurse from the infirmary arrived.

This was the first time Ms. Owen had ever used her first aid training. Although she does not have a CPR certificate, it was a part of the training she received.

It was the first time Ms. Mills had ever been in a life-saving situation as well. She had received first aid training as part of a life-saving course and had been exposed to CPR techniques in a high school health course. Both women felt fortunate to have been able to give Faison the emergency help he needed.

(Continued on Page 6)

It's in the handbook....

BULLETIN BOARDS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

Bulletin boards should be read daily as students are held responsible for all information contained in notices posted on official boards in Johnson Hall. Communication centers are also located adjacent to the Cate Center and the library where all campus organizations post programs, projects and meeting times. Each campus organization is responsible for its own announcements, and each publicity item should be dated. To provide adequate space for each organization, all announcements should be put up no earlier than one week prior to the event, and all articles should be removed immediately following the program. The Dean of Students Office posts Today's Events each day on displays located on the breezeways at the cafeteria and Johnson Hall. Announcements that are to be posted on these boards should be submitted to the Dean of Students Office by 4:00 p.m. the day prior to their announcing. While announcements may be posted on individual hall bulletin boards, no publicity articles should be placed on residence hall doors or on the doors of other campus buildings. All announcements that are improperly posted will be removed.

Phi Alpha Theta inducts members

On Thursday, September 18, the Meredith chapter of Phi Alpha Theta held its fall induction ceremonies and elected new officers for the 1980-81 year. Dr. Gates, Dr. Grubbs, and Dr. Parramore presided over the induction procedures which were held in the Alumnae House. one senior, Deborah Still, and one junior, Jo Ann Burke were the two new initiates to be welcomed into the organization.

After the induction ceremony, the following officers were elected: Jackie Revels - President, Nina Breedlove - Vice President, Deborah Still - Historian, and Jo Ann Burke - Secretary-Treasurer. Phi Alpha Theta is an international honor society in History, and Meredith's Phi Omicron chapter has as its members Nina Breedlove, Jo Ann Burke, Kathy O'Brien, Nell Olive, Jackie Revels, and Deborah Still.

COLLEGE POETRY REVIEW

THE NATIONAL POETRY PRESS

announces

The closing date for the submission of manuscripts by College Students is

November 5

ANY STUDENT attending either junior or senior college is eligible to submit his verse. There is no limitation as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred because of space limitations.

Each poem must be TYPED or PRINTED on a separate sheet, and must bear the NAME and HOME ADDRESS of the student, and the COLLEGE ADDRESS as well.

MANUSCRIPTS should be sent to the OFFICE OF THE PRESS.

NATIONAL POETRY PRESS

Box 218

Agoura, Ca. 91301