Plan Your Career November 10

by Molly McGee

What's big and square and is filled with employees from over 50 working fields? Why, it's Weatherspoon Gym on Career Day, of course.

Because of the great success of Meredith's first Career Day held last spring, the event will be repeated again this year on November 10.

This year's Career Day theme is selecting a field that you love and making it marketable.

Mrs. Mutschler from the Career Services office is very much interested in helping students realize the importance of course compliments such as a foreign language to business, or computer science to music, etc.

Finding extracurricular areas such as these in combination with a major can be a great asset to any future working woman.

Finding the right course compliments for any major may be a difficult task; however, on Career Day there will be visitors from a variety of work areas to help interested girls with this. These guests will not only provide curriculum tips, but will also be able to answer other questions and provide career and vocation counseling and information.

Although this may sound like an event for college juniors and seniors, it is probably even more valuable to freshmen and sophomores. In fact, 81 of the 92 freshmen and sophomores surveyed after Career Day last year found the event beneficial in selecting a major and planning for a future career.

All Meredith students, no matter what class, are highly encouraged to participate in Career Day. This event can provide exposure to those in the working world and information about the job market, as well as being a lot of fun.

The following is a list of Career Day participants:

Sophs Give Most Blood

by Molly McGee

The Blood Drive held on the Meredith campus Tuesday, October 26 was a tremendous success.

This year's Red Cross Blood Drive, sponsored by S.G.A., C.C.A., M.R.A., and M.C.A., had the highest donor turnout at Meredith in over two years. Of the 152 persons who came to give blood, 130 were able to donate. There were 39 first time donors and two one gallon donors.

The sophomore class had the highest number of class members to participate in the drive. Because of this, they will be the first class to receive a memorial heart as recognition for their support. This heart will, in turn, be passed on at each Meredith Blood Drive to the class with the highest number of participants.

The sponsors of this year's Blood Drive would like to thank the men from the Farm House for their help in setting up for the drive, Frank Laney for his assistance, as well as the blood donors and volunteers.
