Where the Wild Things Play

Meredith students enjoyed an afternoon of fun, physical activity on April 11 at Stunt 1991!

Meredith Recreation Association sponsored the event, which was chaired by Kim Audette and Beth Lowry. MRA chose the theme, "Where the Wild Things Play" from the popular children's book, Where the Wild Things Are.

For the second year in a row, Stunt was similar to a field event. Students participated in a 3-legged race, egg toss, flour power, halo chase, and sponge toss to try to win points for their class. Points were awarded for 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th places. Three lucky students from each class got the opportunity to throw wet sponges at President John Weems, Dr. Carson Brison, Sam Carothers, and Janice McClendon. The "targets" were all very good sports!

MRA introduced a new event this year-a lip synch contest between classes. Each class had two and a half minutes to perform and "sing" a song. The five judges, Becky Bradshaw, Paula Daniels, Patricia Grieco, Libby Mullinnix, Marge Stevens and Libby Weber judged the classes on creativity and originality. All performances were cute and received a good deal of response from the audience, but it was the senior performance that the judges decided was the best. Second went to the juniors, third to the freshman, and fourth to the sophomores.

The juniors were later vindicated when the final results were tabulated. Results of Stunt were First Place, Juniors; Second Place, Seniors; Third Place, Freshman; Fourth Place, Sophomores.

Stunt 1991 was fun and enjoyable and, according to MRA, a success! It would not have been possible, however, if it weren't for the hard work and dedication of the class of co-chairs: freshman-Lynn Barbee and Anissa Jones, sophomores-Beth Anne Fleishman and Kate Wilson, juniors-Amy Allen and Kitty Allsbrook, and seniors-Susan Howard.

MRA thanks them for all of their help and to all of the people that made Stunt great!

Meredith Grad Will Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon

by Julia Haskett

This year's Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by a former Meredith student who served her college in a variety of ways. Sue Fitzgerald played a number of sports during her four years at Meredith: basketball, soccer, hockey and softball. She sat on the student council for three years and worked in the dining hall three meals a day.

Sue Fitzgerald

Fitzgerald, a 1952 graduate, was ordained to the Ministry by Mars Hill Baptist Church in 1973. She became a teacher of religious education the year after graduation and then went on to serve as Minister of Christian Education at several Baptist churches in Virginia and North Carolina. Today she is the Director of the Center for Christian Education Ministries at Mars Hills College.

Fitzgerald is a member of the Board of Directors of the Mountains of Madison, Inc., a school of mentally retarded and handicapped adults in Mars Hill. In 1978, the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary awarded her its Citations for Excellence in Christian Ministries.
