

Editorial

by Kelly Parker, Managing Editor

We are constantly reminded during the Holiday season of the spirit of giving and goodwill of man. I would like to take this opportunity to recognize some giving and goodwill that has been offered to the Herald throughout the semester. I want to thank everyone who has contributed to our newspaper this semester. Without all of the help we have received, there would be no Herald weekly (or, in some cases, not so weekly).

I would especially like to thank our devoted staff for all of their hard work and willingness to meet last-minute deadlines. We have a great bunch of people that make an honest attempt to cover the events on this campus every week, despite ongoing tests, papers, life crises, etc. And though you all don't receive much recognition, your contributions are genuinely appreciated.

To all the student leaders who have contributed organizational articles and updates, a big thank you. Your efforts have helped our staff tremendously by allowing us to use our time covering other events around campus. Without your help, some of these events may have unfortunately been left unpublicized. Thank you again, and we look forward to hearing from you next semester.

To the Editorial staff, we made it! Our first semester is over without any nervous breakdowns (to date), and we have greatly improved the paper. I can't say enough about how appreciative I am for all of your efforts. We've been a "rags to riches" newspaper since last May. . . well, okay, rags to middle class. At any rate, we've come a long way, baby! Thank you, Amy and Jessica, for all of your hard work.

To our advisor, Ms. Miller, we owe you much gratification. Thank you for the endless ideas, energy and encouragement. Thank you, especially, for letting us create a publication about the students, for the students, and by the students of Meredith. You're a brave lady!

And finally to the students, faculty, administration and Publications Board of Meredith, thank you for your continued support. We print this newspaper every week for you and about you. We hope you enjoy seeing Meredith reflected weekly through the eyes of our staff. Please continue to offer your suggestions, ideas and support. And look for some exciting new changes in the Herald next semester!

We wish everyone a happy holiday season, and good luck on exams. See you next semester!

Cornhuskin' Class Co-Chairs Ad- dress Student Body

Dear Student Body:

Undoubtedly, CORNHUSKIN' '91 was THE BLOCKBUSTER OF THE CENTURY. Let's keep in mind that WHEN THE CLOCK STRUCK TWELVE on November 7, 1991, it was officially over. Now, almost a month later, it should be merely a PICTURE OF THE PAST, a memory. However, IT'S A MYSTERY to all of your class co-chairs why negative remarks towards each other cannot end. In any competition, both negative and positive aspects will be found, and you're living in AN UNDER-WATER FANTASY if you disagree.

It will be all too soon before our days at Meredith will be over. We've realized, like many previous graduates, that THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME. As we sail ON THE GOOD SHIP LOLLIPOP into next semester, let's strive for a more positive attitude towards each other so the GOOD TIMES CAN ROLL on the rest of the year.

WE CAN GO TOGETHER—we did it in the amphitheater that night, classes cheering for each other—united as one. Think of THE PLACES WE STILL CAN GO if we put any hurt feelings, bad remarks, etc. behind us. We have to come back together after the holidays as a student body. We are a rare and envied group of women. We are THE FEW, THE PROUD, THE MEREDITH ANGELS.

Have a wonderful holiday, and we are proud of you all.

Your CORNHUSKIN' class co-chairs,

Jennifer Borowicz
Leah Ritchie
Julie Burnette
Aimee Willard
Mandy Dill
Lori Williams
