

"Vision for the Future."

and value-based education will not only survive, but will prosper. It is obvious I am including Meredith in the group that will remain excellent and strong.

What assumptions can we make about the future of women's colleges? In the early 1960's there were more than 300 such institutions in the United States. Today there are only 90, and you would not readily recognize the names of the majority of these. However, I cannot help but believe that most of the women's colleges of reputation, such as Meredith, will emerge stronger than before. There will always be demand for a school such as ours, one that is strongly focused on the education and development of women. I think that the demand for our type of education will grow and the competition for admission in the future will be at an even higher level than it is today. But you obviously can see that my vision for Meredith is positive and strong. We have a great school and it will get better. Meredith's heritage will always be important, and we are indebted to the love and sacrifices of those who made it possible for us to all enjoy what we have today. We want to do our part in ensuring the successful future of Meredith. I can hardly wait to see what is ahead of us!

in the academic buildings since flyers are a "fire hazard". Students were concerned about parking on the weekends and getting too many tickets. The proposal from SLC concerning Visitor Parking was discussed. Students would like to see trash cans placed in the new parking lots.

Larger issues included: a discussion on the SGA proposal to Senate concerning alcoholic beverage containers, lack of participation among the students, and overlapping, student programming.

SGA also shared information about the "Meredith Gets Campused" weekend, the name change for Le Greenhouse, and specific plans for remodeling the Cafeteria and the International House.

SGA would like to thank everyone for attending the Forum! The most successful part of the evening was the concern shown by the students and the great ideas that resulted. For more details, just ask around!
