

Sophomores enjoy Mother/Daughter Tea

by Clarky Lucas

The sophomore class held a Mother/Daughter tea on Saturday at the amphitheater that included a touching program honoring the mothers and a time for refreshments and mingling for the students and their mothers or special guests.

"It was a special time for mothers and daughters to show their appreciation for one another," said Mother/Daughter Co-chair Erin May.

The tea began with a greeting from Allison Carroll, the sophomore class president, which was followed by a prayer from Sophomore Vice President Mary Pulley. Holley Cobb, Mother/Daughter co-chair, then introduced the guest speaker Sandra Gilmore, who is actively involved in Crossroads Fellowship Church of Raleigh and also the mother of three daughters. Through her colorful examples of life with three small girls, she urged the mothers to always support their daughters in both good and bad times and urged daughters to cherish every moment they have shared with their mothers. "My mother and I could relate to everything she said about her daughters," said Jan Yow.

As a tribute to the mothers, Sophomore Secretary Shelly Barrik read a poem entitled "My Mother" by Jane Taylor, and at the closing of the program each of the students was called to the front of the amphitheater with her mother and was given a pink carnation to present to her mother.

The reception gave the mothers and daughters time to chat and meet others. It was located on the island, and an array of refreshments were offered which consisted of a variety of fruit that could be dipped in chocolate, miniature quiches, and other types of finger sandwiches. Coffee and punch were also served.

The third annual Mother/Daughter tea began at 10:30 a.m. and concluded at 12:30 p.m. with an estimated 250 people in attendance.

safety and security awareness and prevention programs.

The NCSU brochure on campus safety offers a few tips to visiting students and guests. "When walking [on campus] go with someone, stay away from isolated areas, and dress sensibly. To protect your car always lock doors and take the keys. Lock valuables in the trunk, and park in well lit areas. When returning to your car, have keys ready in hand and check the interior before entering. In case of an emergency on the NCSU campus call the Campus Police at 515-3333."
