Letter to the editor: seniors will triumph

To the senior class-

Well girls - we may not have Cornhuskin', but we still have class. I think it is necessary to congratulate the juniors, but more so ourselves for holding our heads high.

Sidewalk chalk told us all last year that last would be first, but first doesn't mean best. Meredith is a place where most of us learn to grow up and in doing so, we come out with respect and high values. And I believe our senior class has proved we will leave Meredith College with dignity, honesty and an appreciation for our school and what it stands for.

There are a lot of rumors about the game not being played fair, but we as a class stand tall, knowing we worked hard and played fair. This is actually a lesson we will appreciate learning, because we will know in our hearts that we have won and are mature enough to go on.

Sidewalk chalk also told us last year that some would rather be dead than in an even-numbered class, well, at this moment I can't think of a better place to be. Our little sisters, as well as our big sisters, have shown class and we appreciate that more than you girls will ever know.

I think I can speak for the whole senior class in saying thank you to our senior co-chairs Joanna and Anne. They did a great job and they are appreciated. Our class has been brought closer as a result of their long hours and hard work. They are not only great co-chairs, but also outstanding examples of TRUE Meredith Angels.

Respectfully,
Shelly Albright
