

Meredith's Top Ten List

Top Ten Excuses For Not Having Your Camcard

10. I left it on my cafeteria tray, and it went through the garbage tray line.
9. I let a girl who looks kinda like me use it so she could eat lunch— she forgot her card too.
8. I left it in the left pocket of my dark blue jeans, or was the back pocket of my slim fit jeans.
7. It got ruined during the down pour of rain on Cornhuskin' night.
6. A bouncer took it away from me when I tried to use to get into a bar on Tuesday night.
5. I got locked out of my suite yesterday, so I used to break into my room. Too bad it cracked in half.
4. The cashier at Ann Taylor thought it was my credit card— she cut it in half.
3. Some how Vogue magazine got it. They liked it so much, my picture is going to the cover next month.
2. I thought it was my bank card, but when I put it in the teller machine, it ate my camcard.
1. Look, I just don't have it o.k.? I have better things to do than keep track of my camcard.

Campus Blood Drive Scheduled

The posters are all over campus: "Give Blood, Save a Life."

You can help someone in need, a surgery patient or an accident victim, by donating a pint of blood at the American Red Cross blood drive on Wednesday, Nov. 29.

The Red Cross solicits donors throughout the year, but the need for blood is always more critical during the holiday season.

As part of a group project in their "Living Revolution" Capstone class, six seniors are working with the Carolinas Region of the American Red Cross to conduct this year's blood drive at Meredith.

Red Cross officials told the group that they try to maintain a three-day supply of all blood types, but they seldom have enough of the following: O+, B+, O-, A-, and B-.

Students, faculty and staff can donate during the afternoon and early evening of the 29th, from 3:00 to 8:00 p.m., in the Wainwright Suite on the lower level of Belk Dining Hall.

"We are encouraging donors to make an appointment so things will flow smoothly," said Kelly Abernathy, biology major and group leader. "We will be scheduling appointments in the Cate Center lobby on Nov. 15 and 20 and during lunch and dinner in the dining hall on Nov. 15, 16, 20, and 21.

Donors must be 17 or older, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in generally good health. The entire process takes about an hour, although the actual donation takes only ten minutes. When donors register, their temperature, weight, blood pressure and pulse will be checked, and after donation they will spend 20 minutes in the canteen having refreshments.

An additional part of the students' project is to raise the awareness of the need for organ donors, and donor cards will be available at the registration table on the day of the drive.

Other members of the organizing group are Leslie Hall, Amy Lancaster, Christy Owle, Molly Shepherd and Betsy Stewart. Faculty advisers are Dr. Garry Walton and Dr. Rhonda Zingraff.

They are asking for your support. Please take time to donate blood on Nov. 29, and help save a life.

1996 EMERGING LEADERS SEMINAR

The Emerging Leaders Seminar Series will be held in Spring 1996 for any freshman or sophomore who would like to develop her leadership skills. The seminar is an eight part, non-credit course with session topics including styles and models of leadership, group communication skills, decision making, intercultural awareness and creative leadership techniques.

The series begins January 16 and ends February 27. Sessions will be held on Tuesdays from 3:45—5:30PM in the Chapel Commons Room. A Ropes Course and Recognition Dinner will also be included in the series.

The deadline date for sign-up is Wednesday, December 6 (Last day of classes), and the seminar is limited to 30 people. Spaces will be filled on a first come, first serve basis. If you need further information or have questions, please contact Shelly Hoover, Assistant Director, in the Office of Student Activities and Leadership Development at x8338. We hope you'll take this opportunity to build leadership skills and to find out how you can get more involved at Meredith College!
