

Holland: continued from page 4

of Kappa Nu Sigma, senior adviser to Alpha Lambda Delta and a member of Beta Beta Beta, the biology honor society. She also serves as a student representative to the Meredith College Task Force.

Holland's primary goal for SGA, one she says the entire executive board shares, is to increase and improve communication among students, trustees, faculty and administration. She had lunch last month with President Weems and Norman Kellum, newly elected chairman of the board of trustees, and was impressed with Kellum's view of the college. Holland said, "he told me we both are products of the college and he's right. He is very much in tune with students' needs. He is aware of the big issues. It's nice to have someone who's way up there be interested in our needs." Kellum was scheduled to have dinner with the SGA executive board the day of our interview and Holland was enthusiastic about the possibilities for beginning an on-going dialogue.

Holland usually spends Sundays at home and attends Holly Springs Baptist Church with her grandmother who takes a special interest in her activities. "My grandma has high expectations of me," she smiled, "I guess she has more time to worry about me than she did about my dad and aunt when they were growing up."

During the Christmas break Holland plans to work on her honors thesis. She is researching the use of physical therapy with patients who are recovering from strokes.

She says she watches "good, mindless TV" as a study break and enjoys suspense movies. Dining out is a favorite pastime and she likes to try new foods. Maximilian's in Cary is one of her favorite restaurants, and she recently dined on gator at Cajun Charlie's. Holland said she has no time during the school year to read for fun, but tries to catch up on the best sellers during the summer.

Charlie, a seal point Siamese, is Holland's special pet. There is also a "very good friend" in her life whose first name is Ward. "If we ever get married," she laughed, "we'd have to change our name to Cleaver because we'd be Ward and June."

A May graduation and enrolling in grad school are Holland's immediate goals. Her theme in last spring's election campaign was, "Oh, the places we'll go." SGA President June Holland knows where she's going, and she's definitely on her way.

CAREER CONNECTIONS

JOB FAIR '95—November 15&16, Greensboro Airport Marriott

•For Undergraduates: Internships, Co-ops, Summer Jobs
Job Fair Information Day—Wednesday, November 15—12:30-4:00 pm

•For Seniors: Job Fair Interview Day
Thursday, November 16

Complete details, directions, and information on accommodations in Career Center
Questions? Call 829-8341

GRADUATE STUDY EVENT

•How to Write Winning Graduate School Applications
Friday, November 17—10:00 am, Career Center—2nd Cate. Lead by Dr. Jean Jackson

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

•Office Manager Position—available with Hobby Properties, Inc. Accounting, computer and general secretarial/adm. capabilities are required in this highly visible position.

Call Franklin Holmes at 783-6141 or fax resume to 782-3321 ASAP

•Dental Assistant Position—for Elizabeth H. Cordes, DDS. Seeking quality person for quality practice.

Rex Hospital area—Call 781-3862 ASAP

•Administrative Support/Graphics Team Member—Exp. desired in this fast paced environment office.

Send resume to Reuben Donelley, Human Resources, 6000 Aerial Center Pkwy, Morrisville, NC 27560

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES

•Journalism, Political Science & Communications Majors!! Governor Hunt's Press Office is offering a Spring Semester '96 internship for Juniors and Seniors interested in pursuing a career in public affairs or communications.

Call 733-5612 ASAP

•President's Commission on White House Fellowships-The White House

30-year old non-partisan program seeking outstanding Americans to work as special assistants to Cabinet-level officials and participate in an education program which brings them face-to-face with the leading newsmakers of the day.

Contact: Eric Garnett, Constituent Liaison, Wake County Office, 571-4661.

Application Deadline, December 1

AQUA ANGELS

MEREDITH'S SYNCHRONIZED SWIMMING
PERFORMANCE GROUP

PRESENTS

A BLAST FROM THE PAST

WEDNESDAY
NOVEMBER 15

6:00pm-6:30pm
Weatherspoon Pool