

Volleyball team defeats faculty

SPORTS RELEASE
Mamie McKinney

Despite concessions made for the them, the faculty could not handle the force of the College volleyball team. The volleyball team defeated the members of the faculty in a scrimmage match last Tuesday. There was the rule that once the volleyball team scores three points, the faculty is able to save. This rule was applied during the scrimmage in addition to the fact the faculty played with seven players instead of the regulated six.

The faculty that participated in the scrimmage include Coach Cathy Mayberry, Coach Melinda Campbell, physical education professor Mary-Ellen Clancy, Athletic Director Marie Chamblee, history department head Michael Novak, foreign language department head Brent Pitts, religion professor Roger Badham and child development professor Paul Winterhoff.

NOTE: Both the volleyball and soccer teams placed first in their tournaments over the weekend.

The future of education the hands of four Triangle women

ANDY PARK
Triangle Lifestyle Magazine

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a four part series about four women who have taken the helm at the area's leading institutions. This article is reprinted with the permission of Triangle Lifestyle Magazine (Sept./Oct. issue). This article has been edited for length requirements.

Four women leading area campuses are helping to lead the Triangle to the forefront of the new Millennium.

These four women stand at the top of their profession and head four of the Triangle's top universities and colleges. By their leadership and by their example, they are well-placed to affect eternity by their influence. In the fields of medicine, science, technology, the arts and politics, Triangle women have pioneered in their professions, shattering the glass ceilings.

The very description "Triangle" came not from three cities in central North Carolina but rather from the geometric shape geographically formed by three outstanding universities, so it is fitting that women are leading by example in higher education.

Marye Ann Fox, NSCU Chancellor

In announcing the appointment of University of Texas at Austin Vice President Marye Anne Fox to become the new chancellor at scientifically prestigious NCSU, UNC President Molly Broad noted, "For the first time in the history of this University, we will have a chancellor who is a member of the distinguished National Academy of Sciences."

This and other credentials leave Fox with a scientific curriculum vitae that reads like the product of an entire faculty: Fox, a physical organic chemist by specialization, has authored three books, more than 20 book chapters and more than 300 research papers. She is also a member of the American Philosophical Society, a fellow in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Fox has served on the National Science Board, and her involvement in education has reached from the kindergarten level through graduate teaching.

In addition to her involvement in both science and the arts, she has received accolades for perhaps an even more challenging accomplishment: her ability to administer the hotbed of activity that is today's institution of higher education.

Fox succeeds retiring Chancellor Larry K. Montkeith, who lived through turmoil ranging from the Jimmy Valvano firing to faculty-student-staff disputes over internal priorities.

NCSU is the school that produced SAS founder James Goodnight, and it prides itself on its scientific credentials. In everything from meteorology to micro-miniaturization of computer chips, NCSU is a school blasting into the new millennium.

That Marye Anne Fox is NCSU's new leader seems to have nothing to do with her gender but rather her formidable leadership skills. Fox is an honors graduate of Notre Dame College, after which she earned her doctorate from Dartmouth College and completed two years of post-doctoral study at the University of Maryland on fellowships.

With over 27,000 students making it the largest campus in the 16-member UNC system, NCSU has also embarked on a Centennial Campus expansion that promises to form the nucleus of a unique corporate, government and university public-private partnership. At the forefront of this expansion will be Fox.

NEXT ISSUE: Look in the Nov. 4 issue of the Meredith Herald for the continuation of this series with the second profiled women educator in the Triangle, Laura Carpenter Bingham.

Clubs Corner

WHITNEY WILSON
Clubs Editor

● Wed., Oct. 28 from 6:30 p.m.-8 p.m. in 214 Ledford. Eileen Moore, Student Activities Intern, will present a seminar on Personal Leadership: Getting What You Want Out of Life.

● Oct. 30, a spooky hayride and cookout will be held at Hill Ridge Farms. The group will depart at 5:30 p.m. from the Park Center parking lot. Sign up in the Residence Life office. Pay $6 per guest when you sign up.

● Sat., Oct. 31, WINGS Brunch Bunch will meet at Gregory's in Crabtree Valley Mall from 9:30 a.m.-12 p.m.

● You are cordially invited to attend "Under the Harvest Moon" Cornhuskin' 1998 from Nov. 2-6. Monday-Wednesday practices will be held in Carswell Auditorium. Thursday practice will be held in the Amphitheater. The Cornhuskin' practice and activity schedule is as follows:

Monday: WINGS 5-6 p.m. Freshmen 6-7 p.m., Sophomores 7-8p.m., Juniors 8-9p.m., Seniors 9-10p.m. Big Sis/Lil' Sis Serenades: Sophomores/Seniors 6p.m. Freshmen/Juniors 7p.m. BONFIRE 10p.m.-12a.m. - on the softball field

Tuesday: WINGS 5-6p.m., Seniors 6-7p.m., Freshmen 7-8p.m., Sophomores 8-9p.m., Juniors 9-10p.m. MRA SCAVENGER HUNT 10p.m. - Belk Dining Hall.

Wednesday: CAPTURE THE CORN! 4p.m. - front lawn. WINGS 5-6p.m., Juniors 6-7p.m., Seniors 7-8p.m., Freshmen 8-9p.m., Sophomores 9-10p.m.

Thursday: CAN ART 4p.m. - courtyard. WINGS 5-6p.m., Sophomores 6-7p.m., Juniors 7-8p.m., Freshmen 8-9p.m. Seniors 9-11p.m.

Friday: Parade 3:30p.m. - front drive. Picnic 4:30p.m. - courtyard. CORNHUSKIN' 6p.m. - amphitheater. After Cornhuskin' Breakfast and Party 11p.m. - Belk Dining Hall.

Coming Events

LISA GILLIAM
Arts & Entertainment Editor

- October -

28-31- Park Your Car in Harvard Yard— A play that develops from a moving grudge match into something more as each of these characters evolves in their unusual relationship. Main Stage. 8 p.m. Call 821-3111. Students $6.

29-31- Miss Evers' Boys— a play by David Feldshuh. A shocking drama based on a true story. 8 p.m. Main Stage, Thompson Theatre, NC State. Call 515-1100 for info.

30-31- NC Symphony Classical Concert. Memorial Auditorium, Raleigh. $17-35. 8pm. Call 831-6060 for more info or tickets.

30- Rodney Banks, lyric baritone, Cynthia Sexton, pianist, Guest Recital. Carswell Concert Hall, Meredith. 7:30 p.m.

31- Victorian Holiday Cooking. 19th century recipes adapted for a 20th century kitchen. $28. 9am-1pm. Page-Walker Hotel in downtown Cary. Call 469-4000 for more info.

- November -

1- James Giles, pianist, Guest Recital. Carswell Concert Hall. 3pm. Meredith.

1- Park Your Car in Harvard Yard. See above for info. Raleigh Little Theatre.

1- How Did I Come Into This World?- Dorota Tulodziecka-Adams discusses her project of collecting children's drawings from around the world. NC Museum of Art. 3pm. Free.

3- Shania Twain concert w/ special guest Leahy. Bi-Lo Center, Greenville, S.C. 8 p.m. $35 & 25. Phone 888-386-8497 for more info.

- Briefs -

● Oct. 31st is Halloween. Go rent scary movies or stop by the massive haunted house called "Scream" in the bottom of North Hills Mall. Entrance fee is $7. Go past the Crabtree Exit & take the North Hills exit off the Beltline.