

1999-2000 student advisers announced

ALLISON CARTER
Editor in Chief

With elections a few weeks in the past, it's time again for the most recent student leaders of the 1999-2000 academic year to be announced. This specific group of leaders are not elected officers of different organizations, but they are the women who will introduce the Meredith life to the Class of 2003 when they arrive on campus in the fall. It is the student advisers who lead these new Angels into their college careers.

The Office of First Year Experience held student adviser interviews last month to compile the group of freshman, returning and transfer advisers for next year. Leading the pack, Lora Gibbs was chosen as the Chief Freshman Student Adviser for all of the freshman advisers and Leta Jo Gardner was chosen as the Chief Transfer Student Adviser leading those students who will advise the incoming transfer students.

There are 72 total advisers, including 31 first year advisers, 21 returning student advisers, 13 alternate student advisers, five transfer advisers and the two chief advisers. Chrissie Bumgardner, Director of First Year Experience, will direct the advisers during their spring and fall training.

New Freshman Advisers: Kara Arndt, Valerie Brantley, Heather Browning, Jill Combs, Jenny Costa, Heather Raye Craven, Natasha Farrington, Rebecca Fiore, Susannah Grant, Christina Holder, Amanda Isham, Amanda Johnson,

Alternate Student Advisers: Julie Allen, Erin Bradley, Sara Ellen Car-wile, Kathryn Creech, Carrie Currin, Caroline Fagg, Katherine Jones, Laura Lasley, Meredith Mabe, Christian Melvin, Cortney Robinson, Kim Smith and Carla Stevens.

New Transfer Student Advisers: Betsy Carbrey, Cara Doyle, Jennifer Sturm, Natalie Strong and Stacie Suggs. Erika Looper is a returning transfer student adviser.

The first of the spring training sessions will be Wednesday Mar. 24 from 6-9 p.m. in Belk Dining Hall with the second training session Sunday, Apr. 11 from 4:30-9 p.m. in Ledford. The Faculty/Student Adviser Meet and Greet will be on Monday, Apr. 26 at 10 a.m. in Belk

Healing Force to bring story, dance

SHARON CANNON
Dean of Students

Get into the spirit of spring by attending morning Chapel (10 a.m.) and an evening performance (7 p.m., Kresge) by the Healing Force on Wednesday, Mar. 17.

The Healing Force presents a program called "The Rhythm of the Drum." During the evening performance, the Anderson family involves the audience in an energetic program of African music, dance and storytelling.

Members of MCA enjoyed participating in a performance by the family last fall with college students from throughout North Carolina. MCA is delighted to join forces with Campus Ministry and the Dean of Students Office in bringing this wonderful family to our campus.

College students, staff and faculty have found events by the Anderson family to be a joyous way to learn about other cultures.

Participants will learn to use percussion instruments and sing songs from Africa. Faculty, staff and 23+ students will find the evening event to be a delightful time to share with their children.

Come to Chapel first Wednesday morning. We have no doubt you'll be back with your friends and family for the evening performance.

Experience Meredith! needs student support

SHERA HUBE
Admissions Counselor

For some high school seniors, "Experience Meredith!" on Saturday, Mar. 27 will be the day to celebrate their definite plans to come to Meredith this fall; for others, it will be the day to make their final choice.

As these accepted students and their parents arrive on campus for one more look, the Office of Admissions wants the Meredith community to be aware of our special guests.

Approximately 400 guests will arrive early on Saturday for tours, information sessions, a Student Activities Fair, picnic and Academic fair to spend time with Meredith students, faculty and staff.

Members of the class of 2001, the Big Sister Class for the incoming first-years, led by Meredith Bolton and Student Admissions Representatives are especially involved in hosting visitors for this event, as are students and faculty staffing fair booths.

During the day as students and parents wander the campus, check dorm rooms and try to imagine college life, please join us in making them feel welcome.

A chance encounter with an enrolled student or member of our faculty or staff may be just the factor that helps a prospective student decide Meredith will be her home for the next four years.
