

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I saw the posting on Thursday, October 28 on E-News that Fahrenheit 9/11 would be playing at Meredith on Sunday evening. I saw Fahrenheit 9/11. Michael Moore has taken splicing, editing, and manipulation of facts to a higher art form. He even suggested what President Bush might have been thinking when he heard about the Trade Center attacks, and his decision to invade Iraq; and that thinking was for his own selfish interests. I have heard many times that people who second-guess are usually wrong.

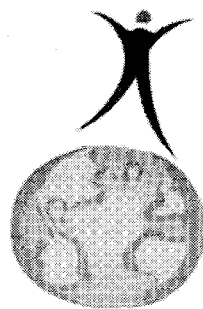

We have had controversial topics and speakers on campus many times, all in the spirit of diversity and intellectual integrity. To present this anti-war, anti-Bush, propaganda "documentary?" at Meredith three days before one of the most serious elections in our nation's history, is, in my opinion, irresponsible. Meredith takes great pains to foster a spirit of acceptance and respect to every individual. I think this movie undermines that initiative because, in my opinion, Fahrenheit 9/11 is also racially and socio-economically divisive. I thought we had a middle class in this country, but I must be mistaken. I guess there are only two classes--the wealthy, and the poor and disenfranchised. The negative campaigning by both Presidential candidates in this election is embarrassing and demoralizing. I expected the Democratic Meredith students to hold a higher standard.

Calling All Angels:

Did you know that Meredith College was the first college in the state of North Carolina to have a Student Government Association?

SGA has been on this campus and making history since 1905!!! In order to celebrate our centennial year of student governance, your 2004-2005 SGA Executive Board is planning a Centennial Celebration in the Spring!

We're hosting a silent auction on Nov. 9-10 to raise funds for this awesome project and many other campus-wide projects.

Please come to the Cate Center next Tuesday (10am-7pm) and Wednesday (10am-5pm) and support 100 years of student governance at Meredith College!
