Readership Survey Results

collected by Ashleigh Phillips

Last fall and the beginning of this semester a Herald readership survey was conducted. We thank you for your 75 responses and have considered every one of them. You asked the Herald to be more relevant to Meredith College by highlighting its community and the students that make it. We've addressed this by keeping the Confessions column that highlights a unique Meredith student perspective every issue. We've also added a Style Stalker column that feature personal fashions on campus. State and Local articles will be more specific to the Meredith community. You wanted more Whines and Gripes, so we're going to publish more thoughtful ones. For better proofreading, we've got more copy-editors on board. And as you read this, we're working on selling ads to bring you more issues. We appreciate your support and look forward to hearing from you.
