

First Day of School 2019

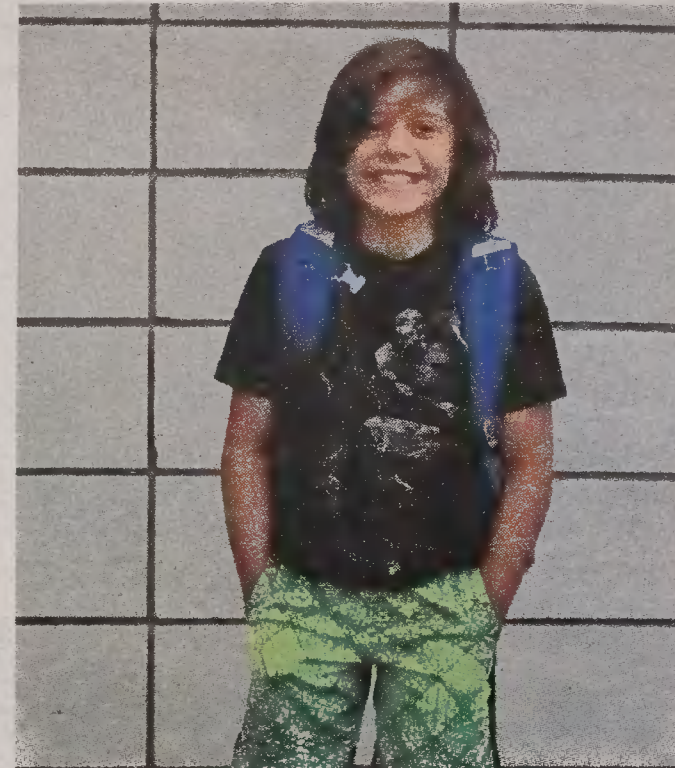

Nine-month-old Abigail Smith, daughter of Garrett and Katie Smith of Raleigh, looked very happy on her first day at Kindercare Raleigh. Proud grandparents are Pine Knoll Shores residents Tom and Pam Smith.

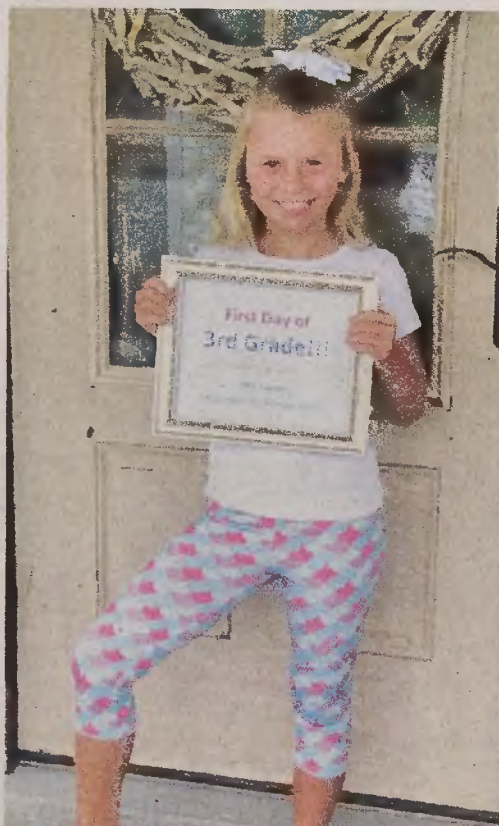

—Photo courtesy of Kindercare

Peyton Smith on her first day of 7th grade at Morehead Middle School, where she is also a cheerleader. One-year-old Banks, the family Goldendoodle, joined Peyton for the first time in this back-to-school photo.—Photo by Cheryl Smith

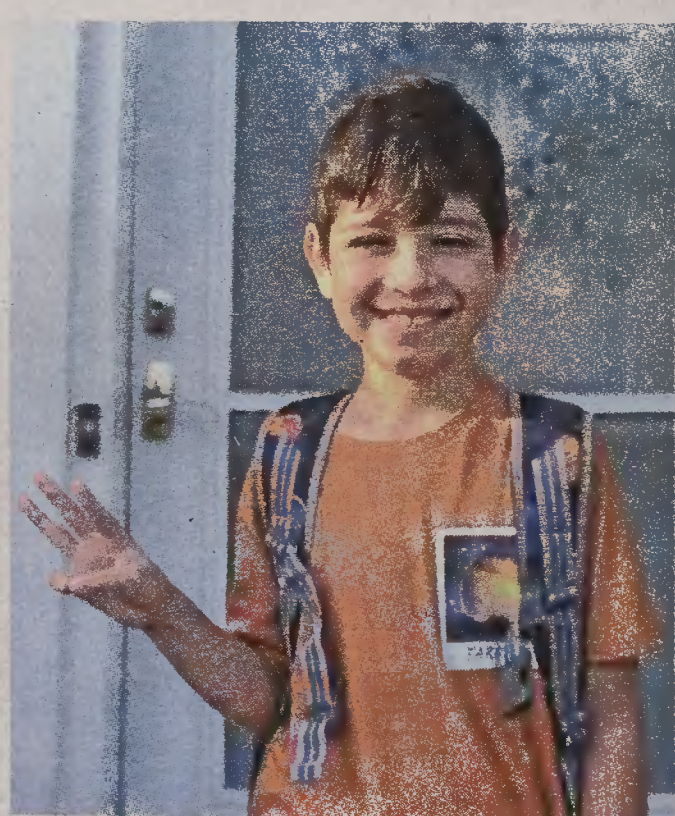

Sergio Hewitt, age 10, on his first day of 5th grade at Frank Porter Graham Elementary School in Chapel Hill. The grandson of Pine Knoll Shores residents David and Nan Gildner, Sergio enjoys fishing and net casting while at the beach—and helped out at the Fire Auxiliary's recent fundraiser car wash.—Photo by Paula Hewitt

Ashlyn Everhart, age 8, and Latham Everhart, age 5, children of Zac and Sarah Everhart, on their first day of school at Morehead City Primary School. Ashlyn is in 3rd grade, and Latham is a kindergartner.—Photo by Sarah Everhart

Carrsin Furtner, five-year-old son of Madeline and Kevin Furtner, on his first day of kindergarten at St. Egbert Catholic School in Morehead City.—Photo by Madeline Furtner

Noah Trigg, grandson of Pine Knoll Shores residents Janie and Jerry Price, on his first day of 3rd grade at Barrett Elementary School in Arlington, Virginia. Noah had a great summer improving his swimming and is interested in science and outer space.

—Photo by Marianne Trigg Price