

Helen Granger, projects chairman, presented a landscaping plan prepared by Tony Smith for the islands at Mimosa Boulevard and Oakleaf Drive. The club suggested some modifications in the plan, and appointed Louise Jolitz and Lorraine Dayton to assist in the project, which is set for October.

President of the club this year is Becky Moore. Other officers are Martha Hare, vice president, Helen Granger, second vice president; Irene Doremus, recording secretary; Nancy Peterson, corresponding secretary, and Mary Aterine Smith, treasurer. Committee chairpersons for the new year are Jo Zeller, hospitality; Audry Hoffmeyer, historian; Vern Wallace, Christmas Luminaria; Billie Hathorne, membership; Lenora Roberson, publicity; Irma Brossman, telephone, and Bizzell Dixson and Noni Eastland, yearbook.

OUR NEW NEIGHBORS June and Maurel Richard arrived in Pine Knoll Shores just a week ago from Gwynedd Valley, Pennsylvania. They have owned a lot here since 1969 and have been coming here every year. They are renting a house on Mimosa Drive at the corner of Crain Street for a year while they think about building a house. Basically a research chemist, Maurel worked as a data coordinator with Merck and Company. He loves music and has a large collection of records. He plays golf and likes to putter around the house. He is a transplanted Tennessean who lived in Pennsylvania for 30 years. June, originally a Bostonian, had worked as a medical secretary and then as a part-time church secretary. She likes to knit and plays bridge. They have one daughter in Arlington, Virginia, who works in Washington for Senator Heinz of Pennsylvania.

Louise and Joe Chambers have a home on Cedar Road across the street from Dodie and Mel Wylie. Joe has been in the plumbing and heating business, residential rental business and now has an investment real estate business in Greensboro. They both like fishing, boating and golfing. Joe enjoys working around the house, improving it; he makes unusual lamps and learned macrame while serving in the Navy. Louise is a C. R. S.--Certified Residential Specialist. She bowls, water skiis, ice skates, roller skates, knits, plays bridge and collects unusual conch shells. They have one married daughter and two grandsons living in Columbus, Georgia.
