Dorothy and Bob Herbst moved from Armonk, N. Y., to 103 Birch Court in August. He had been with American Can Company for 34 years, retiring as a Systems Consultant. He knew Brad Smith and Scott Cuthill, who also worked with American Can. Dorothy worked as a secretary to the director of Jennie Clarkson Home, a home for girls in Valhalla. Bob likes fixing things around the house, fishing, bowling, golf and is interested in EMT. Dorothy sews, does needlework, and bowls. They visited the Cuthills several times, bought their lot on their first visit. They have five children. A married daughter, and the younger son, a policeman, live in Armonk. The older son has two children and lives in Tallahassee. Another daughter is a physical education in Hartsdale, and the third daughter is at College of Boca Raton, Florida.

Arline and Troy P. Rhodes moved to 177 Oakleaf from Cape May, N.J., where they had lived for 9 years. Troy is a Chief Warrant Officer and engineer aboard the USCGC Conifer based at Ft. Macon. His hobby is working on his cars. Both are North Carolinians. Arline likes bowling, working in ceramics and sewing. When they learned they were being transferred here, they went house hunting, and thus found Pine Knoll Shores. They have a farm in Wallace, N.C., which was originally Arline's home. Their eldest son works as an engineer for R. J. Reynolds, in Winston-Salem. The second son is a seaman with Texaco at Port Arthur, Texas. The youngest son is a sophomore at Gaston College at Gastonia, studying industrial engineering...Olga Hedrick
