WOUNDED IN ACTION

Robert W. Martin, whose picture appeared in our Christmas issue, has been reported wounded in action. His wounds, it is believed, are not serious. He is a son of Mrs. J. W. Martin, Draper.

Cpl. Russell E. Cherry, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Cherry, and husband of Lucile Turner Cherry, Draper Personnel, was also reported wounded in action. In a later message Russell said his wound was not serious, which is mighty good news.

Curtis Willis and Norris Pruitt were both employed in the Carding Dept. of the Sheeting Mill before entering service. Both received their training at Bainbridge, Md., and both were recently at home together on furlough, and said they really "painted the old home town red." Norris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pruitt and Curtis (better know as Buddy) is the son of Mrs. Mamie Willis. They are mighty popular in their home town, Draper, and the best wishes of many friends follow them wherever they may go.

No, fellows, this isn't exactly a Christmas tree but it is the way a lot of trees looked in your home town on Christmas Day. We are printing this picture chiefly for the benefit of you men who are located in tropical countries and we'll bet that it brings back to your mind memories of a lot of other Christmas trees—and a lot more to come. Compare it with the picture of Marion Harris and his buddy in the next column.

The Company's Retirement Committee, just appointed, consists of J. L. Palmer (chairman), V. Koch-Weser (secretary), H. M. McBain, G. L. Bergen, R. H. Tuttle, M. C. Law and J. C. Goddall. This committee will administer the Retirement Program. It also will supervise the retirement of present employes over 65 years of age who are not eligible for the formal Retirement Program but who will receive substantially the same benefits—Field Glass.

"Your wife used to be terribly nervous. Now she's as cool and composed as a cucumber. What cured her?"

"The doctor did. He told her that her kind of nervousness was the natural result of advancing age."

William Griffin, Jr. (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Griffin, was employed in the Blanket Mill weave room before entering service in July 1943. After training at Miami, Fla., he was sent to Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, at Cookeville, where he is now training as an aviation cadet. His address will be sent on request.

Pvt. Ronald E. Brown, Jr. (right), son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Brown of Carolina Heights. He is a former employe at the Rayon Mill and is now training at Camp Maxey, Texas. Since a good many of our M. P.'s are trained there it is possible that Ronald is training for that branch. His address on request.

Marion F. Harris (left) and one of his buddies. Off hand, we'd say they are located in a pretty warm climate. This picture was taken shortly after our boys had captured a Jap base and if you look closely you can see writing in Jap letters on the box behind Marion. Marion, a son of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Harris, joined the Navy in 1940 and has seen much action. He has a brother and a sister also in the Navy. His sister, Mildred, was the first Draper girl to join the WAVES.
