Number 22

Death Claims Fieldale's Grand Old Man

Fieldale feels deeply the passing of Brice Stultz, its oldest citizen, who truly exemplified throughout his long and useful life the spirit of the beautiful poem, "The House By the Side of the Road", being truly "a friend to man."

Mr. Stultz was born near Martinsville, the son of Brice Martin and Tamsie Wells Stultz. He was active in different positions of trust and responsibility, his later years having been spent in the employ of Marshall Field & Co., to whom he was loyally attached. In young manhood he was married to Ida V. Stultz whose passing occurred three years ago. Four children survive this union, viz: Mrs. Lelia Stultz Minter and Brice Martin Stultz, Fieldale, Mrs. T. Clyde Self, Martinsville, and Mrs. Archie T. Cahill, Adsit, and the following grandchildren: Misses Anne, Virginia and Gertrude Minter, Brice Stultz, Jr. and Sarah Ann Stultz, Fieldale, Henry Self, Martinsville, Mrs. Doris Moss, Norfolk, James Stultz, Baltimore, and Sgt. Benjamin Minter with the armed forces, who with a host of friends revere the memory of a truly unselfish life.

The funeral services were held Monday, April 26, at 2 o'clock in McKee's funeral home in charge of his pastor, Rev. Ralph Yow, of Fieldale Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Landon Maddex, pastor of Fieldale Baptist church. Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" was read by Rev. Mr. Maddex and one of James Whitcomb Riley's comforting poems by Rev. Mr. Yow.

The services at the grave were conducted by members of Piedmont Lodge of Martinsville of which he was the oldest member. They were also flower bearers.

In addition to his children Mr. Stultz is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Alice Wall and Miss Anna Stultz, of High Point, N. C., and one brother, John Stultz, of Memphis, Tenn. The many floral tributes were evidence of the love people bore him. Memories of his unselfishness, human kindness and helpfulness will enrich the lives of all who knew Mr. Stultz—Fieldale's Grand Old Man.

V . . . — TYPHOID VACCINATIONS

Typhoid vaccinations for all employees and members of their family who wish them will begin Monday, May 10. Miss Mangum will be at Leaksville Y. M. C. A. on May 10th at 2 p. m.; Central Y. M. C. A. May 11th at 2 p. m., and at North Spray Y. M. C. A. May 12th at 2 p. m.

Employees who did not take this treatment last year are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Robert Stewart

Even if you look closely you won't see a gun on this young man's shoulders—for the very good reason that he isn't physically able. But just the same he is a first class soldier, doing his bit, and we believe his "bit" is the largest of any Marshall Field employe. Unable to serve in the front lines Robert is putting 45 percent of his income in War Bonds. Can anybody top this? His older brother, James, is in the Army; his sister, Jessie, is an Army nurse. Robert is setting a mark for all of us to shoot at.
