

Leaksville "Y" Youngsters Enjoy Day Camp

The Girls' Department of Leaksville Y. M. C. A. held a three-day Camp for girls aged eight to 14 years July 22-25. Scenes during the event are shown in the above layout. With a total of 24 girls enrolled, the camp had an average daily attendance of 21.

Activities included swimming, trips to the Coca-Cola bottling plant and Meadow Dairies, treasure hike, group singing, picnics, handicraft, playground ball, and a campfire service with stunts presented by the campers.

Leaders for the Day Camp were Miss Ruth McConnell, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Girls' Department; Misses Irene Perry, Lucy Duggins, and Ivadell Richardson.

Principals in Woolen Mill Promotions

Woodrow L. Kirby, left, was recently promoted to designer for the Woolen Mill. He was succeeded in the Cost Department by R. A. Harris as cost accountant for the Rayon and Woolen Mills. Harris, a native of Arcola, N. C., was a naval officer during the war.

GENERAL WAGE INCREASE

Steagal, Clifton Mills, Tate Sparks, John Shockley, Lacy Owens, Forrest Land, Bill Tulloch, Bill Highfill, and Frank Williams.

"Where did you get that black eye?"

"It's a birthmark."

"What do you mean, a birthmark?"

"I got in the wrong one on the train last night."
