By Charlotte Martin

The Bleachery Sewing welcomes the following new employees: Grace Griffin, Olivia Bell, Mollie Priddy, Gertrude Young, Laura Overby and Mary Craig.

Those returned to work after being out sick are Bernice Ellington, Sarah Eggleston, Evelyn Wright and Elsie Harpe. Those out on the sick list are: Erah Thomasson, Pearl Shough, Ethel Butler and Millie Seal.

We are glad to have Harley Midkiff back again after being out sick for a while.

We sure do miss Mayme Richardson, who has been a patient at Reidsville hospital. Hurry back, Mayme.

Mabel Shuford was shopping in Danville recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Slaughter, Mrs. Bessie Shockley and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Reed Delancey Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Richardson have returned after spending a week with relatives in Stokesdale and Ellesboro.

Talmadge Roberts of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. Berkley Parrish were guests of their sister, Mrs. Hunter Richardson, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Luther were visitors in Martinsville, Va., Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brim were shoppers in Danville, Va., recently.

We wish a very speedy recovery to Jesse Robertson, father of Mary Ann Rae, who has been ill at his home on Moir street.

Mrs. Beatrice Earles was week-end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Cheshire of Martinsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Smith and daughter, Agnes, visited Mr. and Mrs. Fred Houlton in Danville, Va., over the week-end.

It seems like everybody has been to "Ole' Virginia" lately. I wonder what the certain interest is in Virginia? Hm! Think I'll be going down that way before long myself.

Central Warehouse Office Chatter Vs. Jabber

By Glennice Jones

Welcome—to our new-comers! Elaine Freeman, John Ed Archibald, and Irving Hodges. Also we are glad to have Bertha Pyron Robertson back with us.

Margaret Nance is convalescing at home after being in the hospital a week. We heard about all those boys going to see her at one time. Several girls reported a sudden decrease in the male population of Leaksville lately, so now we know!

If you see a car coming from anywhere close to Bridge Street and Byrd Avenue, it is safest to take no chances, and just duck. It may be Nancy Matlock who has at last received her license. She says that it wasn't her fault that she had to go over there so much, so it must have been that dashing mustache.

We were all sorry to see Ozelle Harter leave, but we all wish for her every happiness now that she is Mrs. Vernon Francis. She leaves today to make her new home in Dayton, Ohio.

Iva Pendleton has been rushing around all the week getting her daughter, Sarah, off to Emanuel College at Franklin Springs, Ga.

Robert Joyce has acquired a new daughter-in-law. Margaret Leftwich and Manley were married the eighth of September. We all wish much happiness for them.

Margie Perry has been ill for several days. We know you dreaded that trip to the dentist.

We are all watching Mildred Hodges' and Clarence's house going up on the Draper Road. It looks good to us, for we know what that means!

That's the low-down—and no bribes were taken, either!

Rayon Mill

By Mildred Saunders and Virginia Hurd

Hi, readers! Really missed writing the news last time but it was a wonderful vacation. Back to work and the news—excitement really brewed in the Rayon recently.

Lightning visited our transformers, providing the most alarming event. Everyone was frightened and we're still puzzled about Mr. Barton's hat being on backwards. Pulled a fast one, we think!

If you passed Joe's "Spooky Hollow Night Club" about lunch time, September 12, bet you thought "The Ladies' Sewing Circle" was meeting. However, it was a farewell dinner for Nell Marie Webster, who resigned from the Rayon Mill office to go back to school. Much luck, "Chicken."

Glad to hear that Osie Alcorn, who is in the hospital, is recuperating. Hope you liked the flowers, "Pete."

New dope on Doris Grogan. That black convertible usually awaiting her has been exchanged to a maroon Chevrolet and a handsome man, who hails from Stoneville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Massey from Greensboro had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Yates Sunday.

It is said that Posey Earles has plenty of business around town since he's sporting that two-tone business coupe.

After sailing, wiring and phoning, Rufus Shelton has finally landed and back to work. Rufus, we're proud to have you.

Mr. John Craig and his daughter, Mrs. Orion Hankins, celebrated their birthdays together on Sunday, September 15.

Mrs. A. B. Nevins entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thomas of Charlotte, Mrs. V. D. McKee, Mrs. Mamie Thomas and sons, Linsey and Charles, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Pickrell, Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Oldham enjoyed an oyster supper Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scrubby Curry.

Will someone please tell ye reporters how to get in one of those chicken dinners or oyster suppers?

A certain weaver, leaving his car at the General Office, hurried to work only to discover his car keys were missing. After calling his wife at the office to see if the keys were left in the car he learned they were and the motor still running. It's nice that gas isn't rationed any more, Meador.

The Preparation Department welcomes Octavia Belton, William Wilson, Garland Carter, and Denzil Heffinger, new employees.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Crouch in the passing of their sister-in-law, Mrs. James Crouch of Midway Park, N. C.

Missing: Leon Shropshire and Sheril Craddock, who are attending the TWUA training school in Asheville.

There's another fair coming to town but Cyril Hudgins couldn't wait; he took in the Martinsville fair Saturday. Negro minstrels are the thing.

Knew housing conditions were serious, but imagine my surprise when I overheard two reporters trying to purchase a trailer. Girls, are you traveling for the news?

We welcome Nettie Durham home and hope she'll soon be back to work.

Last issue we mentioned our versatile secretary's painting. Yesterday we learned she has a new flame and guess what, he's an artist, too.

Fieldale

By Inez Stultz and Lucille Stovall

Pfc. Ralph Stone visited his mother, Mrs. "Winnie" Stone, over the week-end.

We wish to express our deepest sympathy to Mr. Ken Lawless and family over the death of their wife and mother, Mrs. Daisy Lawless.

Miss Lorraine Martin left last week to attend Radford State Teachers College this semester.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Luck and daughter, Dennice, Roanoke, visited Mr. and
