

Rayon Weaving
(By Virginia Hurd)

Going around in circles would not apply to Billy Brown's motor trip home the other night. It seems the gear shift failed to operate and all he could do was drive backwards.

Witnesses verify that Roy Martin and several of his close friends had an enjoyable time when they celebrated last week-end. Puff! and out went every candle on his birthday cake. Just as easy as wishing on a star.

Off to Draper goes Charlie Pulliam. Hope you like your new home, Charlie.

February certainly holds a significance to our inspecting department. Cicero Hall, Daisy Hopper and Margaret Oldham celebrated their birthdays this month.

Time marches on for everyone except George Bateman. Wonder why a birthday passed him up when this isn't Leap year?

We have seen many new faces in the Weave room. They are Adams' Electric crew from Reidsville rearranging looms on the first floor in order to make room for new loom installation later in the year. Our weave room will consist of 252 looms after being completely rearranged.

The weaving family welcomes Charlie McNair.

Buy . . . Sell . . . Swap

LOST—Man's yellow gold Bulova wrist watch somewhere in Boulevard section. Return to Mrs. Josie Wickham, Bleachery, for reward.

FOR SALE—Chicken Brooder practically new and in good condition. See Robert Kallam, Woolen Mill Finishing Department.

FOR SALE—Bicycle in A-1 condition. Call 315-R after four o'clock.

ABSENTEE METER

Two-week periods ending
February 2 and February 16

	Per Cent
	2-2	2-16
MILL
Finishing	3.8	4.6
Hosiery	4.6	5.4
Towel	5.3	5.8
Rayon	4.9	5.9
Woolen	4.8	6.5
Central Warehouse	6.8	6.7
Bedspread	7.5	6.9
Bleachery	5.2	7.8
Blanket	8.5	7.9
Karastan	8.6	8.2
Embr. Bedspread	8.9	9.4
Sheeting	6.6	11.5
TOTAL	6.7	7.5

DOLLARS AND SENSE

“Are Investors the Only Ones Who Furnish Jobs?”

Everyone who works for a living helps furnish jobs for others. First, by directly investing their savings in a personal business or by becoming part-owners in other companies. Second, by indirectly investing their savings through banks and insurance companies. Third, by being a customer—purchasing the goods and services of other workers.

There's a fourth way, not so easily recognized. Here's how it works:

We all have jobs because someone else wants to buy and is able to buy the products that we make. If there is not that “customer demand” then the jobs can not be furnished. “Customer demand” is built up and maintained by offering goods and services of high quality at reasonable cost.

The way in which we who already have jobs perform them determines the quality and cost. This in turn governs the “customer demand,” hence the job opportunities for others.

Finishing Mill News
(By Beulah McBride)

We are glad to have Junior Eggers back with us in the Blanket Sewing Room, after receiving his discharge at Fort Sheridan, Ill.

Lora Burroughs and Ila Krantz have returned to work, after being out for some time sick. Glad to have you girls back with us.

Mrs. John Rampnie of Waterbury,

Conn., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Gusler, Carolina Heights, Spray. Mrs. Rampnie will be remembered by her friends here as Faith Gusler.

Claude S. Eggleston and son, Max Eggleston, who celebrated their birthdays on February 19th, were pleasantly surprised on the occasion with a call from their son and brother respectively, Jack S. Eggleston, who is serving with the Army Air Forces in Adak, Aleutian Islands.