

Boys' Tricycles Helped Advertise Fieldcrest Community Week

George (left) and Billy Brown

An amusing sidelight on Fieldcrest Community Week concerned Billy and George Brown, aged five and three, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Brown of the Riverview apartments in Spray.

The boys became accustomed to seeing the mill trucks pass carrying the signs announcing Community Week. The new signs made such an impression on the youngsters that nothing would do but they have similar signs for their tricycles. With mother and daddy's help smaller signs were made on cards and fastened to the boys' tricycles.

The kids proudly rode up and down the sidewalk, stopping to stare at the mill truck as it passed while the driver stared at the tricycles.

Five Fielddale Students Are Accepted in Choral Club At Averett College

FIELDDALE, VA.—Fielddale musical talent is well represented in the Averett College Choral Club this session. The five local girls accepted into this choir—Jeannette Aderhold, Ann Eggleston, Joann McCombs, Jo McFarland, and Dot Shaw entered Averette College this fall.

This choir, under the direction of Madame Fuessell who once sang in the San Francisco Opera is an active and important factor in the musical development of the students. Membership is open to students who successfully pass the tryouts held each fall.

During the year the Choir appears in recitals at the college, for special occasions, in programs before various community organizations, and in radio performance over WBTM.

Magician To Entertain Junior Carolina Council

When the Junior Carolina Council meets for its November meeting Tuesday evening at Central Y. M. C. A. at 7:30 o'clock, the members will be treated to a performance by one of the youngest professional magicians in the field. Johnny Miles, University of North Carolina sophomore from Winston-Salem is only 18 years of age but has trod the boards of magical illusion for more than six years.

James Byrd, of Fieldale, president of the Junior Council, will preside over the meeting. Mrs. Donald Storm, program chairman, will introduce Miles.

The young magician is the son of Forrest G. Miles, prominent Winston-Salem attorney and is well-known in Winston-Salem for his dramatic presentations in connection with the Community Radio Workshop and Little Theatre.

During the summer he made a State-wide jaunt appearing on the stage under auspices of various civic clubs and also was booked at a number of western resort hotels. In an effort to steer clear of the age-old tricks that conjurers have been doing for generations, Miles has perfected many tricks of his own.

Some of his most successful illusions have stemmed from Oriental origin. These include a cabinet trick in which Oriental lanterns, varied colored Chinese balls, and yards of brilliant silk appear seemingly from nowhere, and the piercing of his assistant's head with 15 "swords."

Miles has achieved much renown by his threading of nine previously examined razor blades in his mouth; and by "suspending his assistant in mid-air and making him vanish before the eyes of the audience."

CONGRATULATIONS:—S. C. Summey, left, was recently promoted to foreman of Carding and Spinning, second shift, at Sheeting Mill. In another Sheeting Mill promotion, E. C. Stophel, right, was advanced from head slasher man on second shift to assistant foreman of the Slashing Department.

The Younger Generation

Husky youngster at top is Tony Lee Talbott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Talbott (Blanket Weave); Carolyn Ann Woods, lower left, daughter of Mrs. Violet Woods McArdle and the late Harrison Woods, celebrated her sixth birthday November 1 with a party in the University of Berlin where she now lives in Germany. Carolyn Ann is granddaughter of Mrs. Stella Talbert (Bedsread Weave); handsome young fellow at lower right is Paul Lesley Land, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Land. Mother works at Central Wage Bureau.

Fieldcrest Men Will Have Prominent Parts At STA Fall Meeting

The fall meeting of the Northern North Carolina - Virginia division, Southern Textile Association, will be held at White Oak Y. M. C. A. Greensboro, Saturday November 15 starting at 9:45 a. m. according to an announcement by Howard Barton, superintendent of the Rayon Mill, who is secretary of the division.

Several men from Fieldcrest will have active parts in the meeting. Mr. Barton as secretary is in charge of the arrangements, and W. F. Humbert, Director of Engineering will speak on the program. D. A. Purcell, superintendent of the Blanket and Sheeting Mills is a member of the executive committee, while J. O. Thomas, assistant to the director of industrial and public relations, is a member of the nominating committee which will nominate a new slate of officers at the Greensboro meeting.