

Youngsters Throng Draper "Y" Teen-Town

A popular recreation center for high school boys and girls in the Tri-Cities is Teen-Town conducted at Draper Y.M.C.A. each Monday evening. Large groups of young people representing all parts of the Tri-Cities have thronged Teen-Town since its opening a few weeks ago. Dancing to the juke box, cards, ping pong and other games are enjoyed under adult supervision.

Dr. Young Is Speaker At First Council Meeting

Shown above with Carolina Council officials is Dr. R. C. S. Young, (center) professor of philosophy at the University of Georgia, who addressed the meeting in Leaksville Junior high school auditorium September 18 when the Council opened its 33rd year. At left is Jones W. Norman, outgoing president and at right is John P. Powell, program chairman for 1952-1953.

A native of Scotland, Dr. Young came to America just after the first World War, subsequently becoming a naturalized citizen. The subject of his address was "Why I Am An American." New officers of the Council are Otis Marlowe, president; J. B. Lamar, vice president; J. K. McConnell, secretary; and R. L. Wilkes, assistant secretary.

Quality Testing Equipment Is Shown In Fair Exhibit

The Fieldcrest Mills exhibit at the Tri-City Agricultural Fair won a blue ribbon as first prize in the industrial exhibits. Products of the various mills were attractively displayed and quality testing devices from the Research and Quality Control Dept. were shown.

Members of the department were on hand to explain and demonstrate how the equipment is used. F. W. Sturtevant of the Research and Development division had charge of arranging this year's exhibit.
