

Quality Awards Given Rug Weavers, Fixers

Awards for quality and all-around performance were made on five looms at the Karastan Rug Mill for the month of March.

Looms 21, 39, 45, 46, and 53 received the awards based on loom efficiency, seconds, burling costs, housekeeping, and yield. Each of the factors considered represents a crucial area involving costs and quality.

Attractive certificates bearing the names of the weavers and fixers were placed on each of the award-winning looms.

The awards are made monthly as part of a new program giving recognition to weavers and fixers for outstanding quality and all-around performance.

A record of the performance on each loom is carried on a large board in the Weave Room. Fixers and weavers can tell how they stand at all times by referring to this board.

Members of Legion Auxiliary Visit Karastan

Approximately 20 members of the 11th District of the American Legion Auxiliary visited the Karastan Rug Mill recently following a meeting here.

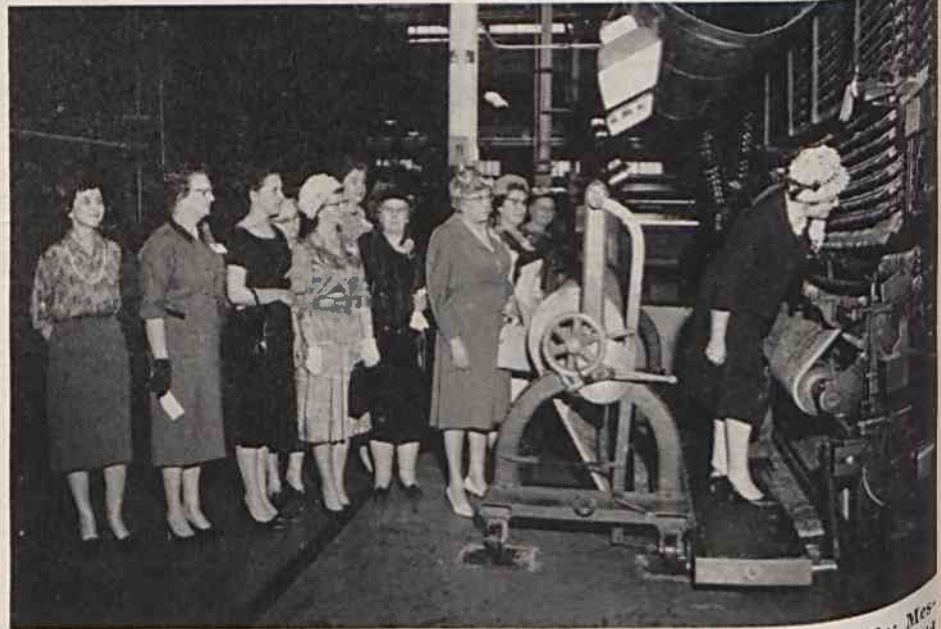

The group met in the showroom where they saw the various lines made by Karastan and heard the designing process explained by members of the Designing Department.

With J. A. McKinney, of the Karastan Office, as their guide and with Carnell Hall and Reba Myers, of the Designing Department, accompanying them to help in answering questions, the ladies were conducted on a tour of all the mill departments.

At the Auxiliary district meeting, presided over by Mrs. Claude B. Tiller of Draper, district president, the principal address was given by Mrs. B. M. Jarrett of Shelby, president of the Department of North Carolina, American Legion Auxiliary.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. James Roland, of Draper, was elected president of the 11th District for next year and will be installed at the department convention in June.
