

Evening Courses With College Credit Open To Employed Persons

Employees who wish to further their education by enrolling in the evening program of the Greensboro Division of Guilford College may see a bulletin giving full details by calling at the Training Department in the General Offices building.

The Greensboro Division, now in its 14th year, was set up to offer to adults instruction not available elsewhere at convenient times and under convenient circumstances.

Evening instruction is provided in four broad areas—business education, college credit, vocational and technical, and cultural and social development.

Class Schedule Given

In general, three semester hour courses will be one and one half hours in length and will be held two evenings a week on alternate evenings. First period classes end at 7:50 p. m., and the second period classes begin at 8:10 p. m.

In the day program, the Greensboro Division will offer selected courses for college credit in classes that will meet for one hour each day, Monday through Saturday between 9:00 A. M. and 12:35 P. M.

In addition to college credit courses, the day school offers a series of certificate programs in various fields, and in individual non-credit courses designed to fill definite vocational or cultural needs. The majority of these courses are set up on the quarter system of 10 to 12 weeks with classes meeting either one or two evenings a week.

Employees who are interested in any of the courses are invited to see the bulletin in the Training Department and to talk with Dr. William McGehee, director of personnel research at Fieldcrest, who will advise and assist them.

New Foreman

The promotion of Paul Kitchens to foreman of weaving at the Karastan Rug Mill has been announced effective Monday, August 7.

In his new position, Mr. Kitchens fills the vacancy left when John Mauney was promoted to superintendent of the Nye-Wait Company, Fieldcrest Mills subsidiary in Auburn, N. Y.

He is a native of Dalton, Ga., and graduated from Georgia Institute of Technology with a B. S. degree in textiles in June, 1959. He joined the Karastan Rug Mill shortly thereafter.

He served in the Army Signal Corps from December, 1954, until September, 1957. He is married to the former Miss Nancy Sue Rymer, of Chatsworth, Ga. They have a daughter, 17 months old.

Sales Trainees Make Visit To Mills

Sales trainees who visited mills are shown in Blanket Mill Cotton Carding Dept.

Three new trainees in our Fieldcrest Sales Division recently spent two days at the mills in observing manufacturing operations and getting acquainted with other members of the organization.

They toured all of the manufacturing plants, the Research and Quality Control Laboratories, Product Development Department, and visited other major staff departments.

The three are currently working on the sales floor in our Fieldcrest Sales headquarters in New York before being assigned to field territories.

Towel Mill Receives VMA Safety Award

The Towel Mill at Fielddale, Va., has been given recognition by the Virginia Manufacturers Association for its safety record during the calendar year 1960.

The mill has received a plaque and a letter from the V.M.A. stating that the Towel Mill with its outstandingly low accident frequency rate of .39 earned the Association's Safety Award of Merit for having the lowest frequency rate within its industry group in the State of Virginia. (The accident frequency rate is the number of lost-time injuries per million man-hours of operation).

In informal ceremonies in the Towel Mill conference room, the plaque was accepted by D. A. Purcell, mill manager and a group of production employees representing various departments in the mill.

The group included Bernice Isenhour, representing the Spinning Department; Richard Turner, Weave Room; and Ruby Watson, Sewing Department.

The Towel Mill employees are continuing their good record and no injury resulting in lost time has occurred during 1961. Until a lost-time accident occurred last November, the Towel Mill employees had worked well over three million man-hours without lost time due to injury.

The Towel Mill, some years ago, accumulated just short of four million man-hours without a lost-time accident—an all-time record at Fieldcrest Mills. They have set as their goal a new record of four million man-hours.
