Top Weavers, Fixers

Names of the Towel Mill's top quality weavers and loomfixers are listed below for the most recent periods of record.

The "Weavers of the Week" are those with the lowest per cent of seconds with respect to the standards for the various loom groups.

The top loomfixers are determined through a combination of low seconds and high loom efficiency on the sections for which they are responsible.

What's My Line?

Unless you work in a spinning department, you may wonder what Arnie Foskey is doing in the picture at left. He's using a Strobotac to check spindle speeds at the Karastan Spinning Division in Greenville.

The Strobotac has a flashing light which, when synchronized with the spindle speed, makes the bobbin appear to stand still, although it is turning at several thousand revolutions per minute.

What Edsel Johnson is doing in the picture at right will seem strange to most readers since he's shown at the only machine of its kind used at Fieldcrest Mills.

He's making an adjustment to the Artos machine at the Automatic Blanket Plant in Smithfield. This machine automatically cuts and marks cord set wire to prescribed lengths and strips the ends. The wire then goes to operations resulting in completed cord sets.
