

No Lost Time Accidents At Smithfield Since Plant Was Started

As a reward for having worked the entire year of 1961 without lost time due to injury, the employees of the Automatic Blanket Plant at Smithfield were given a barbecue by Fieldcrest Mills, Inc.

The employees of the Automatic Blanket Plant have never had a lost-time accident since the mill was established in June, 1960. The plant has one of the best safety records of any mill in the Fieldcrest group.

The employees earned the barbecue under terms of a contest sponsored by the company in which a free barbecue dinner is served all employees in any mill which qualifies for a state safety award.

In a message to employees posted on the mill bulletin boards, T. R. Ray, superintendent of the mill, congratulated the employees and thanked them for their contribution to the outstanding safety record.

Above, a large group of employees of the Automatic Blanket Plant enjoy barbecue served in the mill as a reward for their outstanding safety record during 1961. There has been no lost time due to injury at the mill since it was established in June, 1960.

At left, Smithfield group files by serving table in Blanket Wiring Department to get plates of barbecue. The company gave the barbecue under terms of a safety contest in effect at all mills.

Picture at right shows another group of the employees enjoying barbecue. The Automatic Blanket Plant operated approximately 800,000 man-hours in 1961 with no lost time due to injury during the year.

