

Fieldcresters Cooperate In Blood Collection

Donors shown here, from left, are Ed Barksdale and Jim Jones, General Offices; and Paul Land, Canteen.

More donors, from left, are O'Neil Clifton, Blanket Mill; Thomas Shelton, Sheeting Mill; and James Stephens, Blanket Mill.

Bloodmobile Collects 95 Pints At Draper

(Continued from Page One)

lection will be on Wednesday, February 5, when the Bloodmobile will be at the Leaksville Methodist Church. He pointed to the 214 pints donated on the February visit last year—the largest amount ever given on a single visit here—and expressed the hope that the February visit this year will be even more outstanding.

The Virginia-Carolina Citizens Band Radio Club furnished free transportation to donors on the December 27 visit. The church operated a nursery to care for small children while their mothers gave blood. Radio Station WLOE presented a special broadcast from the scene of the blood collection.

Miss Fagge Named 'Good Citizen'

BARBARA ANN FAGGE

Large Crowds Attend Parties For Children

(Continued from Page One)

the Mixed-up Magician, with comedy-magic acts. Participation by members of the audience in some of the stunts added to the merriment.

Santa Claus appeared at the party and was assisted by mill superintendents and foremen in distributing treats to all of the children as they left the auditorium.

At the Fieldale party, held at 10 a. m. in the Fieldale High School auditorium, D. E. Simons, Towel Mill superintendent, was master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by the Rev. E. J. Nottingham III, pastor of Fieldale Methodist Church.

D. A. Purcell, manager of the Towel

Mill, welcomed those attending and presented Robert A. Harris, vice president of manufacturing who brought greetings on behalf of general management.

Paul Zimmerman acted as master of ceremonies during the entertainment part of the program. He presented Miss Ginger Joyce, with pantomime; Betsy Rhett, a ventriloquist; a trio composed of Linda Padgett, Susan King and Frances Fair Merriman; and the Mixed-up Magician.

Santa Claus went through the auditorium greeting the children and was assisted by the Towel Mill superintendents in the distribution of treats to all of the children attending.

Steven Ray Ziglar Is First Boy Baby In '64

Steven Ray Ziglar, born at 5 p. m. January 1 was the first boy born in the Morehead Memorial Hospital. He was awarded a free portrait by Gillie's Photo Service in the Leaksville News-Tribune Merchants "first baby" contest.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Ziglar. Mother, Peggy, formerly worked in Research and Quality Control. Grandmother, Hilda Grogan, was in the Accounting Department, and a reporter for The Mill Whistle.

Names Omitted

Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Seay were omitted when The Mill Whistle printed names of those to be listed in the "Book of Remembrance" at the new Diagnostic and Treatment Center at Morehead Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Seay are listed in both the Project book and the book for the original hospital building fund campaign. The Mill Whistle regrets its inadvertent omission.

THE MILL WHISTLE