Fieldcresters Form New Quartet

At 4:05 each Sunday afternoon, many radio sets are tuned to WLOE for songs by The Fieldcresters, a male quartet with fast-growing popularity in the local area.

Members of the quartet are Frank Setliff, a Draper mail carrier, first tenor; Harold Squires, Draper Standards Department, second tenor; Dan Squires, Sheeting Mill, baritone; and Chester Hooker, Blanket Mill, bass. The pianist is Joy Y. Woods.

The quartet has had a regular program over WLOE for the past several months in addition to numerous personal appearances. The Fieldcresters sang at the recent Man-of-the-Year program of the Leaksville-Spray Exchange Club and appeared on the latest program sponsored by the Land of Eden Gospel Sing Association.

Organized two years ago, the quartet grew out of the Draper Y.M.C.A. male chorus. Edward Geringer was first tenor at the start, but had to drop out because of a throat ailment.

While the Fieldcresters are primarily a gospel singing group, they also sing popular, barber shop, and western numbers.

They sang at the recent Tri-City Merchants Association's annual meeting and entertained at Christmas programs for Litho-Web employees, the Fieldale Rotary Club, and the Draper firemen.

They are available for special programs at churches, civic clubs and other organizations. Dan Squires is the business manager and handles the bookings.

The Fieldcresters say that they formed the quartet because they love to sing and that their quartet work brings them greater satisfaction than any other activity to which they could devote their off-duty hours.
