

Visitors look on with interest as Lonnie Griffin (left in foreground) shows them new traversing creel installed on a woolen card.

Professor Harrison and students watch Mavis Campbell repair end break on twister.

Karastan Spinning Host To Students

Members Of E.C.C. Industrial Management Class Tour Plant

The Karastan Spinning Division of Greenville was host recently to members of an industrial management class from East Carolina College. The group of 29 young men was accompanied by Miss Alice M. Harrison, associate professor.

Before touring the mill, the group assembled in the conference room where J. M. Moore, plant superintendent, made a brief talk. He described the over-all operations of the company and told of the contribution of the Greenville plant in terms of jobs, payrolls, local taxes paid, etc.

While being conducted on tours of the mill, the visitors were particularly interested in new machinery and new methods. They observed with interest the new traversing creel for woolen cards, a new Duesberg-Bosson spinning frame and a new Meadows large package twister.

Greenville supervisors who served as guides for the mill tours were Luby Skinner, foreman of twisting and reeling; Phil Chambley, foreman of quality control; and Al Peel, foreman of dyeing and blending.

Members of industrial management class observe as Margaret Smith demonstrates method of spinning on new 240-spindle Duesberg-Bosson frame.

← Miley Children

William Berry Miley, III, age 29 months, and Anne Elizabeth Mae Miley, age 6 months, when pictures were taken, are children of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Miley, Jr. Father (Bill) is a loomfixer at the Karastan Mill.

Laura Belinda Hall

Laura Belinda Hall was four months old when the picture was made. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Hall, Jr. Father is employed in the Napping Department at the Finishing Mill. Grandfather, Otis Hall, Sr. works in the Spinning Department at Bedspread Mill and grandmother, Argyle Hall, in Karastan Burling.

Production Leaders

Winners of top production awards at the Karastan Spinning Division in Greenville for the month of October were:

Carding	Curtis Eakes
Spinning	Edna Eakes
	Doris Davis
Twisting	Thelma Taylor
Reeling	Rose Tripp