

THE MILL WHISTLE

Fieldcrest

COORDINATED FASHIONS
FOR BED AND BATH

Karastan
AMERICA'S FINEST RUGS

FIELDCREST TABLE, INC. • Plants at Asheville, Draper, Forest City, Greenville, Laurel Hill, Lakeville, Mount Holly, Salisbury, Smithfield, Spray, and Warhville, N. C.; Fieldale, Va.; Columbus, Ga.; Philadelphia, Pa.; and Auburn, N. Y.

VOL. XXVI

Spray, N. C., August 14, 1967

NO. 3

NEW AERIAL PHOTO — This new air view shows the Karastan Service Center on Summit Road west of Draper. Completed early in 1965 and enlarged a year later, the Karastan Service Center consolidates all customer service and related operations for rugs and carpets. Other operations performed include handling cut lengths of carpets and make-up orders, seaming, carving, binding and fringing.

Bloodmobile Coming To Spray Tuesday

Employees of the Finishing Mill and Central Warehouse will have a leading part in the Bloodmobile visit to Spray Tuesday, August 15. The unit will be stationed at the Spray Methodist Church from 11:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Frank T. Sutfenfield, general superintendent of the Finishing Mill and Jack R. Baker, superintendent of the Central Warehouse, are heading the recruitment efforts at their respective mills. Glenn H. Simpson, Finishing Mill general foreman, second shift, has charge of the donor recruitment on the night shifts.

Guy Buckle, chairman of the blood program, said the success of the visit would depend mainly on the Finishing Mill and Central Warehouse employees, who comprise the largest industrial group in Spray.

He said each employee was being contacted and requested to give blood and that the employees have attended meetings featuring a slide presentation showing how blood is used in saving lives and restoring health.

Chairman Buckle said special efforts are being made to recruit women donors. He said that the records show that women receive more blood from the program than men do and that women can donate blood as easily and as often as men.

The recruiting of donors is being done by employees who will give blood themselves, Mr. Buckle said. Every solicitor who is physically able to give blood was pledged to give blood before he or she solicited other persons. Also, Mr. Buckle said, the "regular, faithful donors" were asked to bring a new donor with them.

It was pointed out that the August 15 visit will be the last Spray visit in 1967 and all Spray blood donor teams were urged to catch up their quotas on this visit.

Mr. Buckle said that since the quota
(Continued on Page Three)

Movie Stars Visit Fieldcrest Stores

You never know who'll come into the Fieldcrest Store.

Recently, at the Fieldcrest Store at Spray, Tab Hunter walked in with his friend Tom Martin, of Reidsville. Then, John Wayne visited the Fieldcrest Store in Columbus, Ga., soon after his arrival at nearby Fort Benning for the filming of "The Green Berets".

At Spray, Hunter was introduced to several of the clerks at the store and signed autographs for many of the customers who surrounded him. He made some purchases for shipment to California and told assistant manager John Buckner that he would mail orders for more items for his new apartment after he returns home.

Hunter was on his way to Charlotte where he played the leading man in "Bye Bye Birdie" at the Charlotte Summer Theatre. He and Martin have been friends for several years, having met through a mutual friend in television.

Wayne came into the Columbus store to buy some beach towels. He was immediately recognized and besieged for autographs. "He was very nice about it and seemed not to mind at all," said Bill Miller, the store manager.

Earlier, the motel near Fort Benning where Wayne is staying had to install a king-size bed for "Big Duke". In refurbishing the Wayne suite they bought the linens and towels at the Columbus store.

The cast for "The Green Berets" will
(Continued on Page Eight)

Columbus Little Leaguers Win State Title

Muscogee Mill Supervisors Are Coaches Of The Eastern All-Stars Who May Be On Their Way To Winning World Championship

A Little League team coached by two supervisors from Fieldcrest's Muscogee Mill may be on their way to the world's championship.

The Eastern All-Stars, of Columbus, Ga., captured the state championship and then won their first game in the Regional Tournament at St. Petersburg, Fla., Thursday, August 10. They were to play West Tampa, Fla., Friday evening. Downing West Tampa would put them in the second round of the Regional Tournament.

They would return to St. Petersburg

August 17-18 for the final playoffs and if victorious would go on to Williamsport, Pa. August 21-25 for the National Little League World Series.

The Little League All-Stars are coached by Ray Moss, assistant foreman in the Muscogee Carding and Spinning Department, and Henry Childress, foreman of the Dressing Department at the Columbus plant.

Moss, who became a Little League head coach for the first time this year, guided his Redbirds to the champion-

(Continued on Page Four)