

Distinguished Guests See Fashion Show

Several members of Congress were guests of Fieldcrest and ATMI at a fashion show in Washington. A record crowd of 400 attended what was described by Press Club officials as one of the finest programs ever held at the social center for Washington's press corps. Shown above is Harold W. Whitcomb, chairman of Fieldcrest, with some of his Congressional guests.

HIGH FASHION WITH TOWELS
Among the 40 high fashion garments shown at the Fieldcrest fashion show at the National Press Club in Washington, D. C. was this play outfit made from towels.

REUBEN M. MILLNER

Two Honored For Long Service

Outstanding records of continuous service with Fieldcrest Mills have recently been achieved by John W. Page, of the Sheeting Mill Weave Room, and Reuben M. Millner, of the Blanket Mill Plant Service Department.

Mr. Page attained a 45-year record with the company and Mr. Millner reached the 40-year mark.

The 45-year service pin was to be presented to Mr. Page on his anniversary date, March 17, along with a letter of commendation from G. William Moore, president of Fieldcrest Mills.

Similar awards were presented to Mr. Millner upon his completion of 40 years on March 1.

Mr. Page, who is a native of Reidsville, began working as a weaver in the Sheeting Mill Weave Room March 17, 1924. He remained a weaver until 1943 when he became a loom fixer. He continues to work as a loom fixer at the present time.

Mr. Millner started work March 1, 1929 as a scrubber in the Blanket Mill Plant Service Department. He remained in that job until June, 1943, when he became an office boy. In 1952, Mr. Millner was made a messenger, and in January, 1968, transferred as messenger to the Plant Service Department of the Blanket Mill.

He is a native of Boston, Mass.
