DR. L. H. HANCE

Dr. Hance Is Speaker At ITT Graduation

Dr. L. H. Hance, division vice president, research and engineering, at Fieldcrest Mills, Inc., was the commencement speaker at the Institute of Textile Technology, Charlottesville, Va.

It was the 20th commencement since the inauguration of the two-year master of science program in textile technology and basic sciences. Dr. Hance was one of the first M. S. graduates 20 years ago and was president of the ITT before he joined Fieldcrest Mills.

In his address he urged the graduating students to "stand for something, to cooperate with those with whom you work, to contribute to your profession, to decide even when the facts are minimal, and be responsible for these roles."

Six masters of science degrees were conferred on graduates by William C. Harris, president of ITT.

Mr. Harris spoke of the progress made by the Institute during its 25-year history. He reminded the graduates of their heritage in this progress and their responsibilities to assist the industry in terms of the many challenges to be faced in the future.

Bill Andrews, Retired Salesman, Dies At 83

Friends in the Fieldcrest organization were saddened to learn of the death of William N. (Bill) Andrews, 83, retired salesman and widely-recognized flower grower. Mr. Andrews died in Decatur, Ill. June 11, three weeks after the death of his wife, Jean, 79.

Mr. Andrews was a curtain salesman for 42 years with Marshall Field & Company and Fieldcrest Mills. He retired under the Pension Plan in 1952 and moved to his home town of Decatur. He and Mrs. Andrews made their home into a showplace with a profusion of flowers and he became a perennial winner of awards at state and local flower shows.

He was an active member of the American Rose Society and recently was honored by the Decatur Rose Society for his devotion to the cause of roses and his leadership in the Decatur beautification program.

Survivors include a son, William Andrews, Jr., who is personnel manager of the Sears Roebuck and Co. store at Pomona, Calif.
