Decennial Census Will Commence On April 1

April 1st 1970. That's the BIG DAY in the 1970 census, 19th in a series that started in 1790, longest track record of its kind in history.

All of us will be involved—really involved—because this will be a do-it-yourself census.

The questionnaire will be delivered by the letter carrier and each family will be asked to fill it out, using a penciled dot language that can be read by FOSDIC, the Census Bureau's ingenious scanning machine.

You won't be able to learn anything about any one person from the decennial census; no one can learn about you.

But from the census will come an outpouring of new and vital facts about the American people and their way of life, the people of a city, county, metropolitan area and the neighborhoods in those areas, facts about States, and of course the United States as a whole. These statistical facts will influence the lives of everyone for the next 10 years.
