Fieldale Makes Allocation To Cancer Society

The Fieldale Community Fund has donated $3,581.72 to the Cancer Fund in its first allocation of the year. A check for that amount was presented to Harry Copenhaver, chairman of the Martinsville-Henry County Cancer Crusade, in a ceremony at the Fieldale Towel Mill attended by representatives of the Fieldale Community Fund Committee.

Allocations from the Community Fund are to be made later to other authorized drives and agencies benefiting Fieldale employees and their families.

Under the Fieldale plan, only one solicitation is made each year at the Towel Mill. An employee may, at that time, pledge a single contribution to be paid through regular payroll deductions.

The money raised in that campaign is used for the Fieldale Community Fund and other authorized fund drives. Administration of the funds is handled by a committee composed of representatives from the various departments at the Fieldale Towel Mill.

haver; Vance Hairston, Beam Dyeing; O. L. Raines, Fieldale personnel manager; and Betty Jones, Cloth Room.

304 Have Perfect Attendance Records

A total of 304 employees of the Karastan Mill achieved perfect attendance for the first three months of 1970. To give recognition to those who worked every scheduled day in the first quarter, their names have been listed on notices posted on bulletin boards throughout the mill.

John G. Cunningham, general superintendent expressed appreciation for their dependability and cooperation and urged them to continue their good records for the remainder of the year.

The number of employees with perfect attendance in the various departments are: Dyeing, 25; Setting and Winding, 57; Weaving, 69; Burling, 46; Washing, 5; Finishing, 23; Yard, 4; Mechanical Development, 4; Plant Service, 26; Service Center, 41; and Pilot Plant, 4.

Students From Danville Visit Fieldcrest Offices

Fieldcrest was host recently to a group of seven young men, all business administration students from Danville Community College.

The students and their instructor, Donald Campbell, were given a guided tour of the General Offices by Temple Land and Betty Tate.

After the tour, Ronald Blackwell, manager-information systems, talked to the students about "Data Processing in Modern Business Concepts."

Raymond Hoskins Is Given New Assignment

Raymond Hoskins, formerly assistant foreman in the Piece Dyeing Department at the Blanket Finishing Mill, has been appointed production control supervisor at the Bedspread Finishing Mill.

Mr. Hoskins, a native of Danville, Va., has been with the Company since 1964 when he was employed as a dye stuff weigher in the Piece Dyeing Department. He became a second hand two years later and in January, 1969, was promoted to assistant foreman, serving in that capacity until his latest appointment.
