June Mohler Receives Communications Honor

June Mohler, manager of publicity and sales training in the Fieldcrest Marketing Division, has been selected for listing in the 1969-70 directory of Foremost Women In Communications.

The volume, which contains the biographies of accomplished women in the communications media of radio, television, newspaper and magazines, is slated for distribution to schools, libraries, corporations, the mass media, professional groups and individuals.

Mrs. Mohler, who has been with Fieldcrest for five years, graduated from the University of Maryland, her home state, with a bachelor of science degree. She also has her master's degree from New York University. In 1968 she was elected to the honorary fraternities Kappa Delta Pi and Omicron Nu.

The editorial advisory board of FWIC, responsible for determining the entries in the forthcoming publication, includes Phyllis Battelle, columnist for King Features Syndicate, Mark Goodson, television producer of "To Tell The Truth" and numerous other shows,
