

Can Now Contact SS Office By Telephone

Individuals are encouraged to make a telephone call to their social security office before visiting in person. Many types of business that formerly required a visit to the office can now be taken care of by phone.

A personal face-to-face visit usually requires considerably more time than a telephone call. And in some cases a significant amount of travel expense is involved in visiting the social security office.

Many social security claims can now be completed over the phone. Or, if you are a beneficiary and some event has occurred which you are required to report promptly, this report can be made quickly and conveniently by telephone.

In some few cases, it will be necessary that the individual visit the social security office after calling. However, the call will usually eliminate the need for a second such visit. The exact documents and proofs that will be needed can be discussed with the social se-

Employees In Sheet Op

Employees of the Sheet Operation were given appreciation for "a good job done exceptionally well" by speakers at the Sheet Operation's 25-Year Club meeting Saturday, October 24, in the former Draper Junior High School auditorium.

W. G. Hunnings, Jr., division vice president-sheet manufacturing, reviewed significant developments in the Sheet Operation during the past four years, including "tremendous changes" and huge increases in production.

"You have responded tremendously to these changes. One could not ask for better performance or better cooperation," Mr. Hunnings said. Stating that there are challenging things ahead, he stressed the importance of people, especially their response to and ability to accept change.

R. C. Going, plant manager of the Draper Sheeting Mill, was the master of ceremonies. He, too, praised the performance of the employees and expressed appreciation for the long service of the 25-Year Club members.

from the General Offices and Special Department who met with those in the Sheet Operation and recognized a large number of retired members attending the meeting.

He presented the following new members who became eligible for the club this year:

Draper Sheeting Mill, Sam Williams, Adams, Manx Artis, R. Otis Broadman, Margie S. Frazier, Esther Y. Gilliam, Doris R. Gregory, Essie S. Hubbard, Pearl S. Kennon, Rosa G. Land, Ann W. Manuel, Mary H. Scott, Geneva Sexton, Virginia W. Wade.

Sheet Finishing Mill, Evelyn Wright; General Offices, Charline Jones, Kathleen W. Mills, Helen P. Robertson; Specials Department, Andrew Hampton.

The entertainment part of the program was in the form of a concert by the Holmes Junior High School Ninth Grade Band, under the direction of Robert Martin. Their program was greatly enjoyed.

In the drawings for attendance prizes conducted by K. W. Foddrell, plant manager of the Sheet Finishing Mill, sheets were awarded to the following: Tom Pruitt, B. C. Trotter, Dora Willis and Dan Squires.

Rev. Sam W. Adams, one of the members of the 25-Year Club, gave the invocation preceding a luncheon served in the Draper Elementary School cafeteria.

Wearing His Safety Shoes Saves Blanket Mill Man From Injury

Gary McBride, a breakdown man in the Blanket Mill Weaving Room, was wearing safety shoes at the right time.

He was in the machine shop with a cam shaft from a loom in the press and was trying to remove the hub. The hub rolled off of the press and the hub struck Mr. McBride's foot which was protected by his wearing safety shoes.

"I know that my foot would have been injured if I hadn't been wearing safety shoes," he said. "I feel sure that those toes where it hit would have been broken."

Mr. McBride's wisdom and good fortune to be wearing safety shoes will make him eligible for the "Golden Shoe" award given to those who have been saved from a foot injury by wearing safety shoes.
